

Common Words 1

aberration

noun

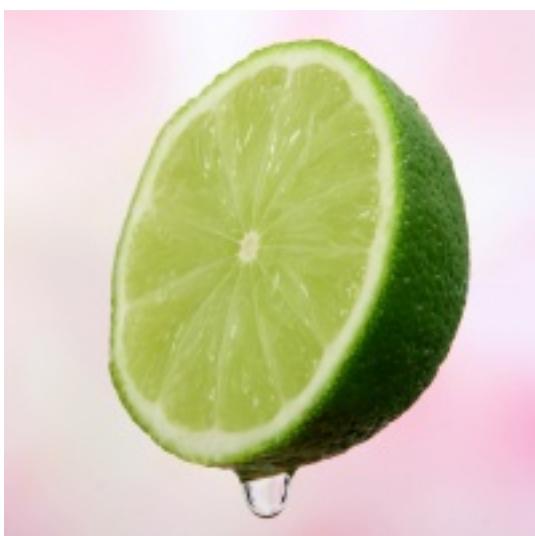

a deviation from what is normal or expected acrimonious

adjective

(typically of speech or discussion) angry and bitter acrimony

noun

bitterness and ill feeling amalgam

noun

a mixture of multiple things ambiguous

adjective

open to more than one interpretation

yes

no

maybe

ambivalent

adjective

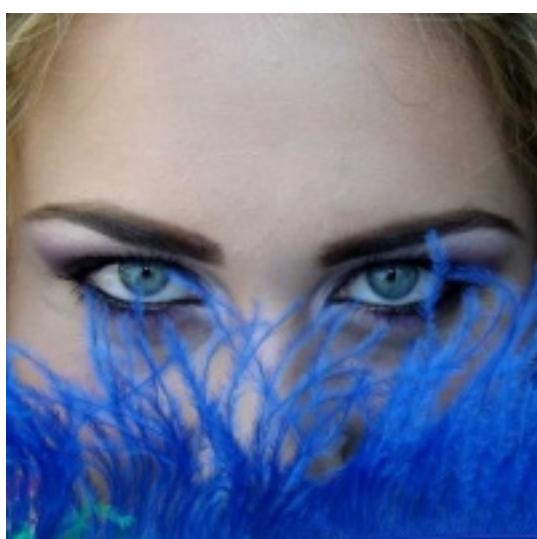

having mixed feelings or contradictory ideas about something or someone amenable

adjective
easily persuaded or controlled amorphous

adjective
without a clearly defined shape or form; shapeless

anomalous
adjective
deviating from what is standard, normal, or expected

anomaly

noun

something that deviates from what is standard, normal, or expected artful

adjective

showing creative skill

adjective

clever in a cunning way auspicious

adjective

conducive to success

believe
adjective
fail to give a true impression of (something) betray

verb
unintentionally reveal; be evidence of bottleneck

noun
a situation that causes a delay in a process calumny

noun

making of a false statement meant to injure a person's reputation castigate

verb

reprimand (someone) severely censure

verb

express severe disapproval of (someone or something), especially in a formal statement chastise

verb
reprimand severely

commensurate
adjective
corresponding in size or degree demur

verb
raise objections or show reluctance disinterestedadjective* not influenced by considerations of personal advantage egregiousadjective* outstandingly bad or shocking in an obvious way enervateverb*

make (someone) feel drained of energy or vitality

adjective

lacking in energy or vitality equivocal

adjective
open to more than one interpretation

evasive
adjective
tending to avoid commitment, especially by responding only indirectly extant

adjective
still in existence (usually refers to documents) frugal

adjective
not spending much money (but spending wisely) galvanize

verb
excite or inspire (someone) into taking action gregarious

adjective
to be likely to socialize with others haranguenoun*

a lengthy and aggressive speech

verb

lecture (someone) at length in an aggressive and critical manner iconoclastnoun*

a person who attacks cherished beliefs or institutions impertinentadjective* not showing proper respect ingenuous

adjective

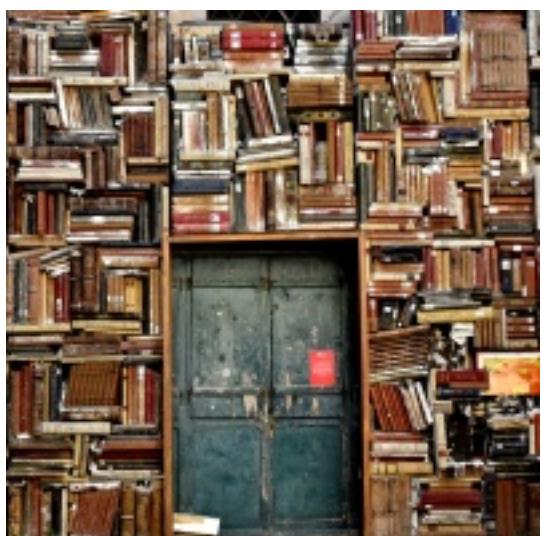

(of a person or action) innocent and naive innocuous

adjective

not harmful or offensive intimate

verb

to suggest (something) subtly

adjective

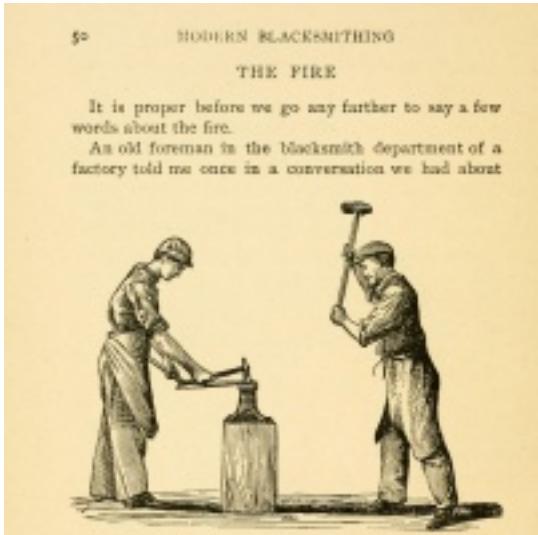

closely acquainted

adjective

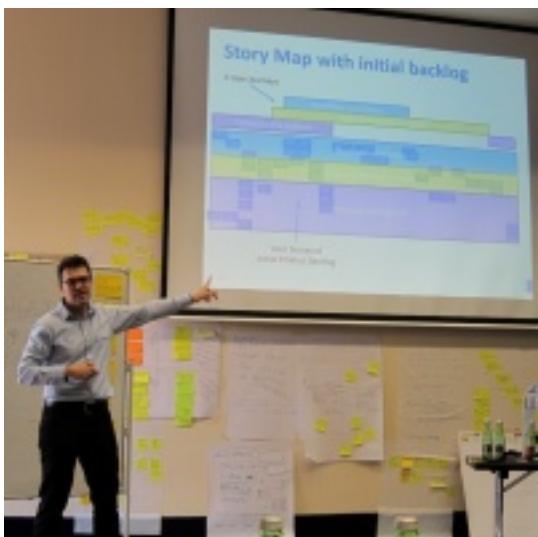

(of knowledge) obtained from a lot of studying or experience involved

adjective
difficult to understand

laconic
adjective
(of a person, speech, or style of writing) using very few words maintain

verb
state something strongly to be the case

mercurialadjective*

(of a person) prone to sudden or unpredictable changes in mood misernoun*

a person who hoards wealth and spends as little money as possible mutationnoun*

the way in which genes change and produce permanent differences parochial

adjective
narrowly restricted in scope or outlook parsimonious

adjective
very unwilling to spend money or use resources prevaricate

verb
speak or act in an evasive way prodigal

adjective

spending money or resources recklessly profligate

adjective

recklessly extravagant or wasteful in the use of resources

noun

someone who spends money recklessly or wastefully qualify

verb

make (a statement or assertion) less absolute restive

adjective
(of a person) restless

tirade
noun
a long, angry speech of criticism or accusation undermine

verb
lessen the effectiveness gradually or insidiously upbraid

verb
find fault (with someone)

venal
adjective
showing or motivated by susceptibility to bribery venerate

verb
regard with great respect veracious

adjective
speaking the truth

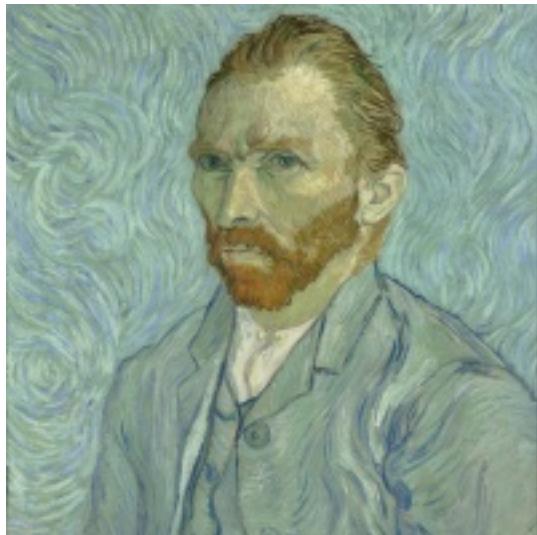

vindicate
verb
clear (someone) of blame or suspicion with supporting proof wanting

adjective
lacking in a required quality

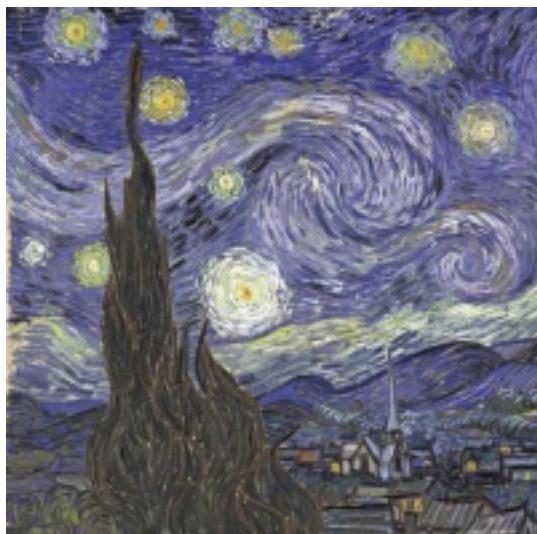

Common Words 2

aesthete

noun

a person who is appreciative of art and beauty aesthetic

adjective

concerned with the appreciation of beauty

noun

a set of principles underlying the work of a particular artist or artistic movement apathetic

adjective

marked by lack of interest or enthusiasm assertion

noun

a confident and forceful statement of fact or belief audacious

adjective

showing a willingness to take bold risks banal

adjective

repeated too often, overfamiliar through overuse bucolic

adjective

relating to the pleasant aspects of the country chortle

verb

laugh in a noisy, joyful, partly muffled way, often at someone else's bad luck concede

verb

admit or agree something is true after denying it

verb

admit (to wrongdoing)

verb

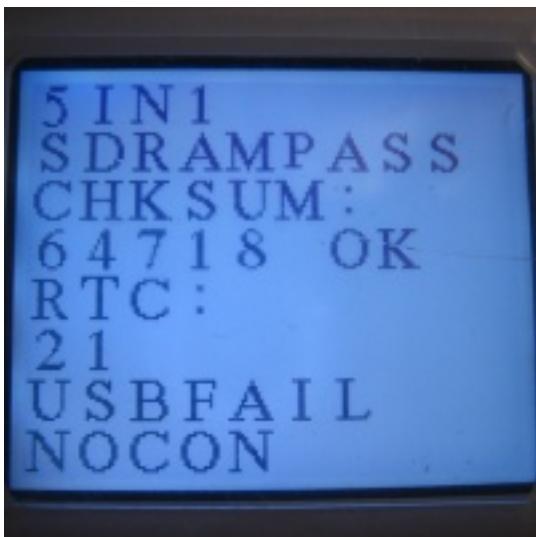

surrender or yield (a possession, right, or privilege) conspicuous

adjective

clearly visible, without any attempt at concealment cryptic

adjective

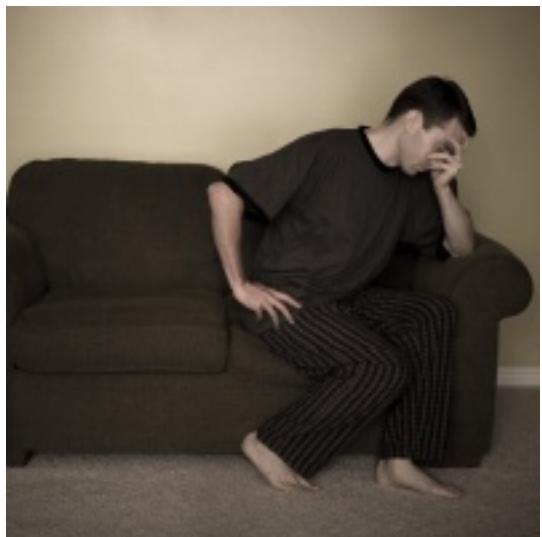

having a meaning that is mysterious or obscure, usually intentionally culminate

verb

reach a climax or point of highest development culpabilitynoun*

responsibility for a fault or wrong, a state of guilt curatornoun*

a keeper or custodian of a museum or other collection decorousadjective*

characterized by good taste in manners and conduct deferential

adjective
showing respect

dictatorial
adjective
expecting unquestioning obedience, characteristic of an absolute ruler didactic

adjective
intended to teach people a moral lesson diffident

adjective

modest or shy, lack of self-confidence dogmatic

adjective

highly opinionated, not accepting that one's own beliefs may not be correct engender

verb

cause or give rise to (a feeling or situation) entrenched

adjective

(of a habit or belief) firmly established or unlikely to change eschew

verb

deliberately avoid using exacerbate

verb

make (a bad situation or negative feeling) worse forsake

verb
abandon or leave

fortuitous
adjective
happening by lucky chance rather than intention frivolous

adjective
not serious in content or attitude or behaviour gainsay

verb

deny or contradict (a fact or statement) gall

noun

bold and impudent behaviour

noun

a feeling of deep and bitter anger and ill-will germane

adjective

relevant to a subject under consideration glut

noun

an excessive supply of something

verb

supply or fill to excess gossamer

adjective

very delicate and light impudent

adjective

not showing respect

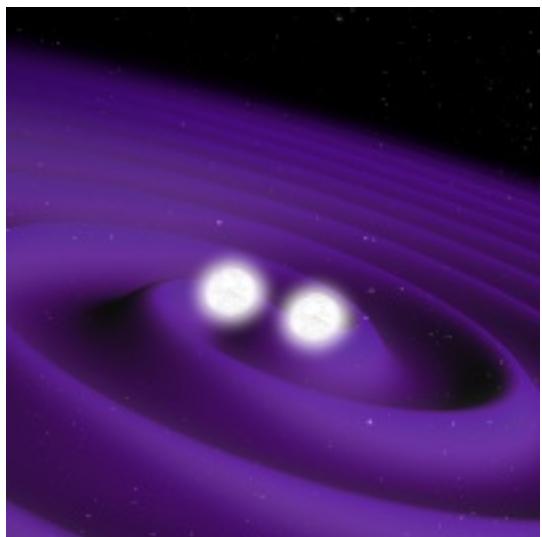

incisive

adjective

(of a person or mental process) intelligently analytical and clear-thinking

notes:

Terence Tao, a mathematician with an estimated IQ of 230 inexorable

adjective

impossible to stop or prevent

notes:

colliding neutron stars

lambast

verb

criticize (someone or something) harshly lawsuitnoun*

a claim or dispute brought to a law court to obtain a legal decision by a person or organization locusnoun*

a particular position or place where something occurs or is situated mawkishadjective*

sentimental in an exaggerated or false way meticulousadjective* showing great attention to detail, very careful and precise mitigateverb*

make (something bad) less severe or painful

verb

lessen the gravity of (an offence)

monopolynoun*

the exclusive possession or control of the supply or trade in a commodity or service obscure

verb

make unclear and difficult to understand

adjective

not known about

patronize

verb

treat in a way that is apparently kind or helpful but betray a feeling of superiority perfidy

noun

an act of deliberate betrayal; a breach of trust platitude

noun

an obvious remark or statement preclude

verb

prevent from happening, make impossible predilection

noun

a strong liking

notes:

Android vs. Apple, for which one do you predilection?

prescience

noun

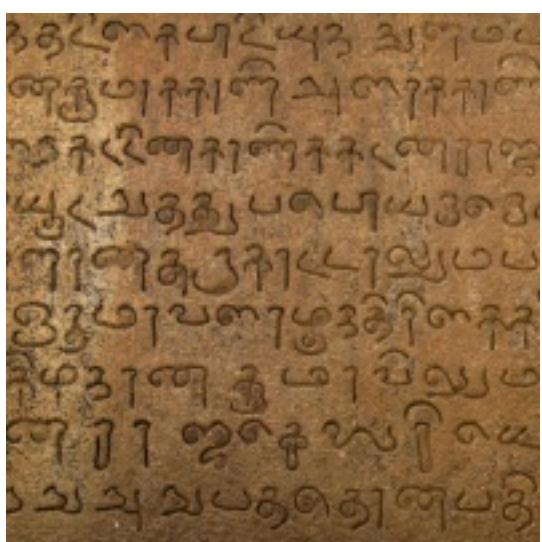

the fact of knowing something in advance querulous

adjective

habitually complaining in a whining manner recondite

adjective

(of a subject or knowledge) little known and difficult to understand reticent

adjective

not revealing one's thoughts or feelings rustic

adjective

characteristic of rural life, awkwardly simple and provincial superfluous

adjective

serving no useful purpose

adjective

unnecessary, especially through being more than enough torpor

noun

a state of physical and mental inactivity trite

adjective

(of a remark or idea) lacking originality or freshness vociferous

adjective

characterized by vehement opinions, conspicuously loud voluble

adjective

(of a person) talking fluently, with confidence and enthusiasm

Common Words 3

aberrant

adjective

departing from an accepted standard abstain

verb

restrain oneself from doing or enjoying something acerbic

adjective

harsh in tone

ameliorate

verb

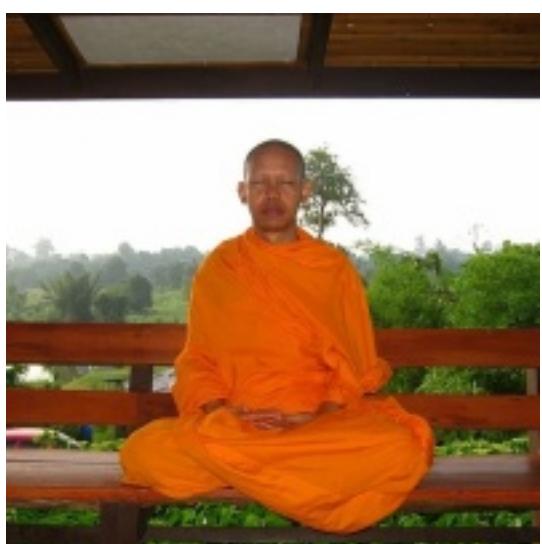

make (something bad or unsatisfactory) better apathy

noun

an absence of emotion or enthusiasm ascetic

adjective

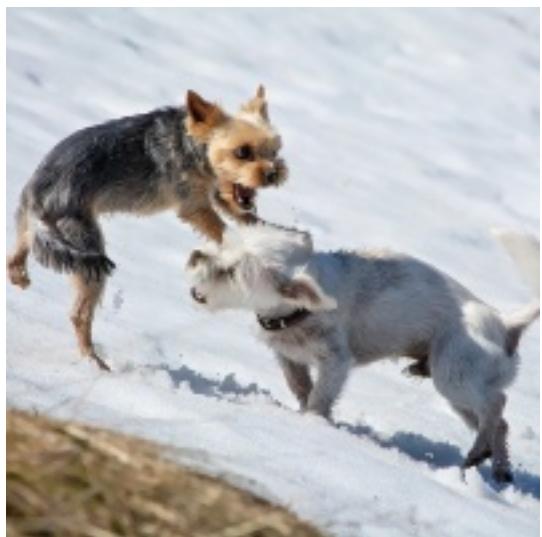

avoiding physical pleasures and living a simple life, often for religious reasons

noun

a person who follows an ascetic life avaricious

adjective
excessively greedy

belligerent
adjective
characteristic of one eager to fight, hostile and aggressive circumvent

adjective
to avoid something, especially cleverly or illegally construeverb*

interpret (a word or action) in a particular way contriveverb*

to pull off a plan or scheme, usually through skill or trickery delineateverb*

describe or portray (something) precisely denote

verb
be a sign of derivative

adjective
imitative of the work of another artist, writer, etc., and usually disapproved of for that reason derive

verb
obtain something from (a specified source)
verb
reason by deduction

disaffected

adjective

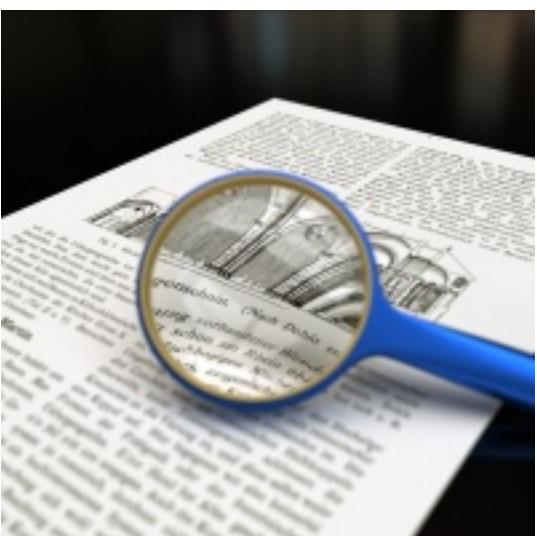

dissatisfied, especially with people in authority or a system of control eclectic

adjective

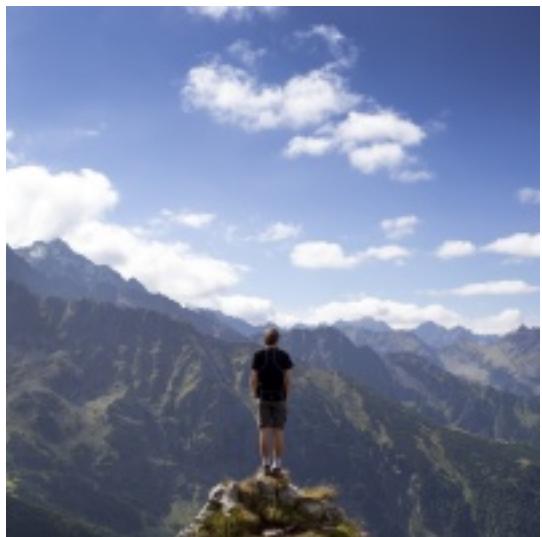

comprising of a variety of styles or ideas elucidate

verb

make (something) clear

eminent

adjective

standing above others in quality or position ephemeral

adjective

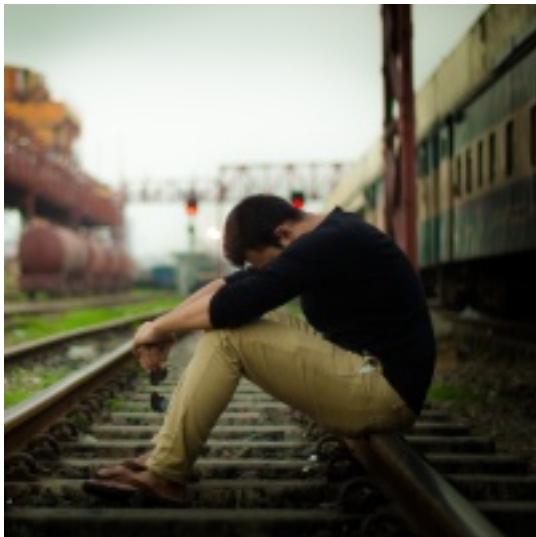

lasting for a very short time

$$2+2=5$$

fallacious

adjective

based on a mistaken belief forlornadjective*

pitifully sad and abandoned or lonely

adjective

(of an aim or endeavour) unlikely to succeed or be fulfilled frustrateverb*

prevent (a plan or action) from succeeding

verb

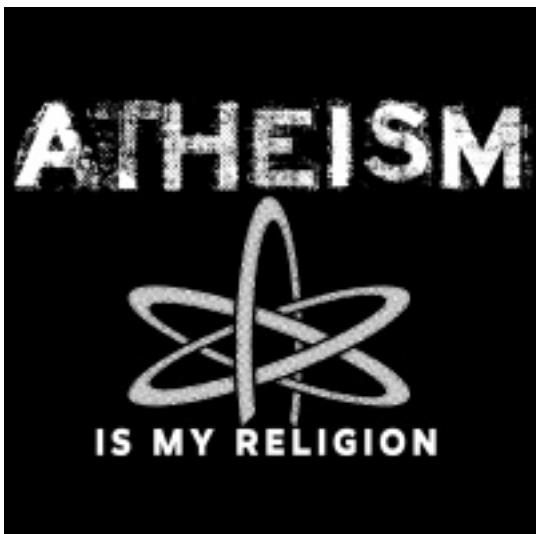

cause (someone) to feel upset or annoyed from being unable to achieve something guilelessadjective* devoid of guile; innocent and without deception haughty

adjective
arrogantly superior and disdainful heresy

noun
belief or opinion contrary to orthodox religious doctrine or what is generally accepted heretic

noun
a person who holds unorthodox opinions in any field (not merely religion) iconoclastic

noun

a person who strongly opposes generally accepted beliefs and traditions immutable

adjective

unable to be changed

incongruous

adjective

not in harmony or with the surroundings or other aspects of something ingratiateverb*

bring oneself into favour with someone by flattering or trying to please them insidiousadjective*

proceeding in a gradual, subtle way, but with harmful effects itinerantadjective* travelling from place to place, usually to work for a short period jingoismnoun*

extreme patriotism, especially in the form of aggressive or warlike policy jubilantadjective* feeling or expressing great happiness, especially because of triumph or success juxtaposeverb*

place side by side for contrast languid

adjective

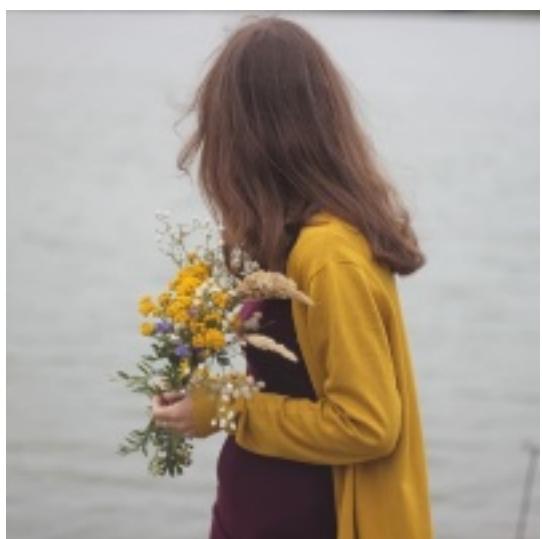

(of a person, manner, or gesture) showing disinclination for physical exertion or effort; slow and relaxed magnanimous

adjective

generous or forgiving, especially towards a rival or less powerful person mollify

verb

to make someone angry less angry negligible

adjective

so small as to be not worth considering panache

noun

flamboyant confidence of style or manner that makes people admire you placate

verb

make (someone) less angry or hostile precociousadjective*

(of a child) showing mental development or achievement at an earlier age than is usual punditnoun*

an expert in a particular subject who is frequently called upon to give their opinion

notes:

Neil deGrasse Tyson (on the left), an American astrophysicist.

quotidianadjective*

of or occurring every day rudimentary

adjective

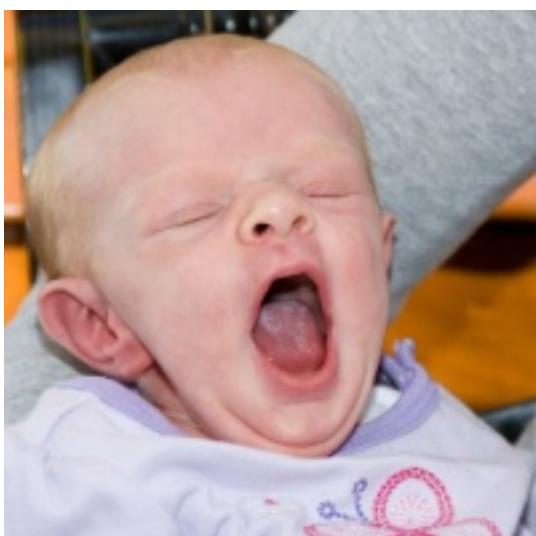

involving or limited to basic principles, relating to an undeveloped or basic form scholar

noun

a person who is highly educated or has an aptitude for study soporific

adjective

tending to induce drowsiness or sleep spurious

adjective
plausible but false

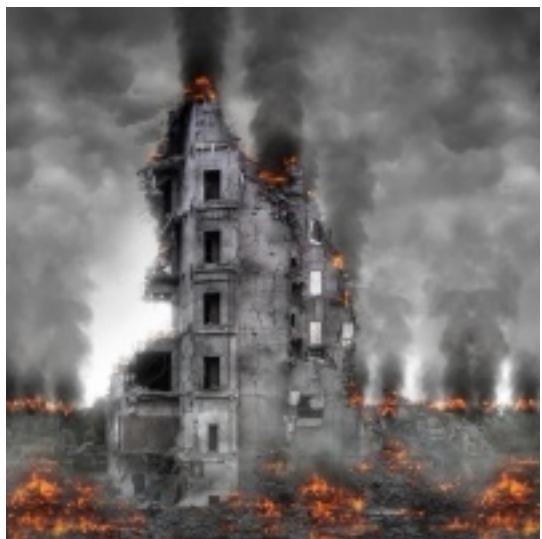

staunch
adjective
very loyal and committed in attitude subsume

verb
to include (something or someone) as part of a larger group supplant

verb
supersede and replace tantamount

adjective
equivalent in seriousness to (usually something bad) tenacious

adjective
tending to keep a firm hold of something travesty

noun

an absurd representation of something treacherous

adjective

guilty of betrayal or deception

adjective

(of conditions) presenting hidden or unpredictable dangers unequivocal

adjective

leaving no doubt

unorthodox

adjective

contrary to what is usual, traditional, or accepted vehement

adjective

showing strong feeling or forceful energy vilify

verb

spread negative information about (someone or something)

Common Words 4

abstruse

adjective

difficult to understand

adamant

adjective

refusing to be persuaded or to change one's mind admonish

verb

warn or reprimand someone firmly admonitory

adjective

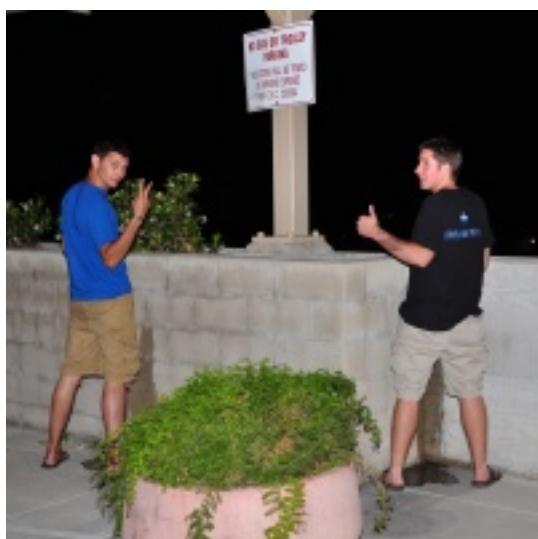

giving or conveying a warning or reprimand apocryphal

adjective

(of a story or statement) of doubtful authenticity, although widely circulated as being true blatant

adjective

(of bad behaviour) done openly and unashamedly bumbling

adjective
acting in a confused way

burgeon
verb
begin to grow or increase rapidly confound

verb
cause surprise or confusion in (someone), especially by not according to their expectations
verb
mix up (something) with something else contingent

noun

subject to chance

noun

a group of people sharing a common feature, forming part of a larger group copious

adjective

abundant in supply or quantity decorum

noun

propriety in manners and conduct denigrate

verb

to treat as lacking in value or importance

verb

criticize in a derogatory manner derogative

adjective

expressed as worthless or low opinion discrete

adjective

individually separate and distinct eradicate

verb

destroy completely; put an end to espouse

verb

adopt or support (a cause or idea)

exacting

adjective

demanding a lot of effort, care, or attention exalt

verb

think or speak very highly of (someone or something) exonerate

verb

pronounce not guilty of criminal charges

notes:

Officer pronounced not guilty after shooting Philando Castile. Justice continues to be denied.

expound

verb

present and explain (a theory or idea) in detail forthcoming

adjective

about to happen or appear

adjective

ready or made available when needed

adjective

willing to divulge information hackneyed

adjective

(of a phrase or idea) having been overused idiosyncrasy

noun

a mode of behaviour or way of thought peculiar to an individual ignoble

adjective
not honourable in character or purpose ignoramus

noun
an ignorant or stupid person implacable

adjective
unable to be appeased or placated implausible

adjective

(of an argument or statement) not seeming reasonable; failing to convince incorrigible

adjective

(of a person or behaviour) not able to be changed or reformed; impervious to correction indifference

noun

lack of interest, concern, or sympathy injunctionnoun*

an authoritative warning or order intransigentadjective* unwilling or refusing to change one's views or to agree about something largessnoun*

generosity in bestowing money or gifts upon others laudable

adjective
(of an action, idea, or aim) deserving praise and commendation myopic

adjective
lacking foresight or imagination opaque

adjective
not able to be seen through ostentatious

adjective

intended to attract notice and impress others pedantic

excessively concerned with minor details or rules petulant

adjective

(of a person or their manner) childishly sulky or bad-tempered pragmatic

adjective
guided by practical experience and observation rather than theory provincial

adjective
characteristic of limited perspective, unsophisticated and narrow-minded reconcile

verb
restore friendly relations between refute

verb

prove (a statement or theory) to be false or wrong scrupulous

adjective

(of a person or process) careful and extremely attentive to details

tawdry

adjective

showy but cheap and of poor quality temperance

adjective

control of your own behaviour, such as not drinking or eating too much tortuous

adjective

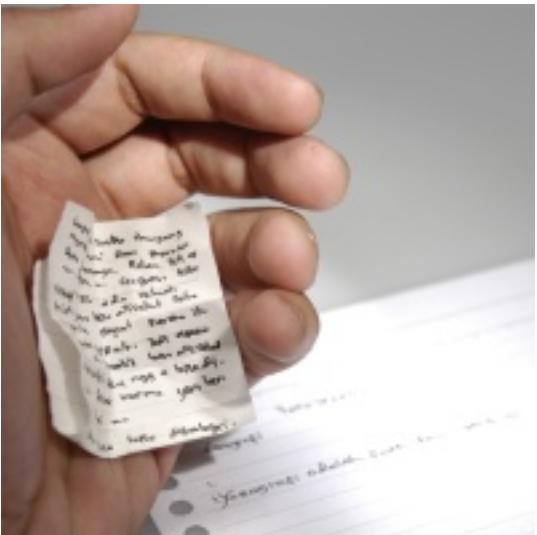

full of twists and turns; excessively lengthy underscore

verb

give extra weight to unscrupulous

adjective
showing no moral principles
notes:
Cheating in school exam.

Common Words 5

accolade

noun

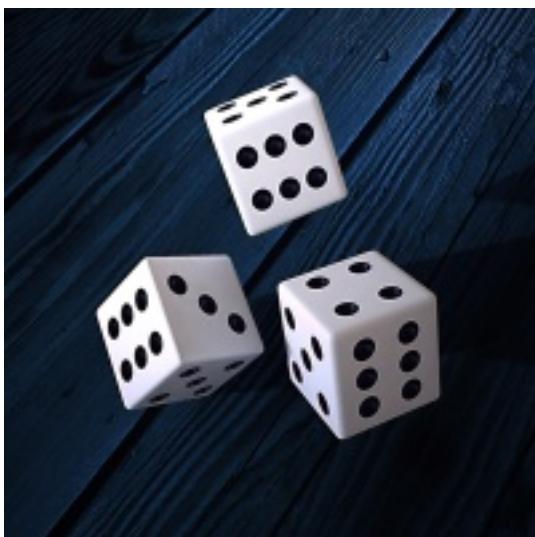

an award or privilege granted as a special honour or as an acknowledgement of merit antithetical

adjective

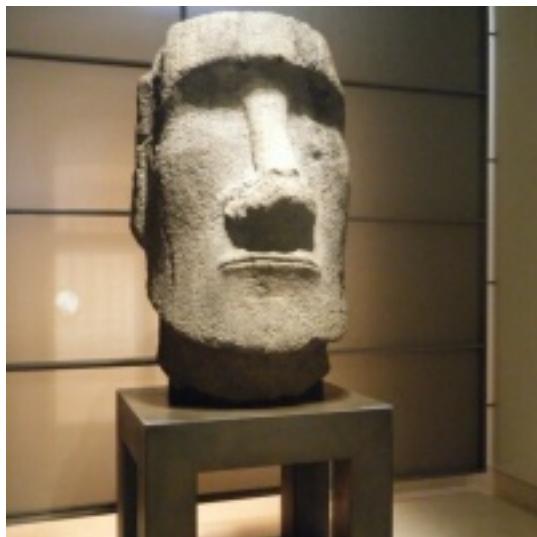

sharply contrasted in character or purpose arbitrary

adjective

based on random choice or personal whim, rather than any reason or system arcane

adjective
understood by few
notes:
A moai statue, very few people have an understanding of the stone heads.

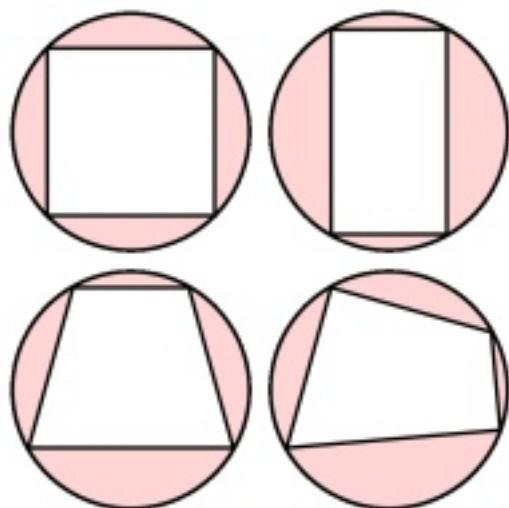

audacity
noun
a willingness to take bold risks
noun
rude or disrespectful behaviour austere

adjective
(way of life) having no comforts or luxuries brazen

adjective
bold and without shame

circumscribe
verb
restrict (something) within limits constituent

noun
a component part of something
noun
a citizen which elects a representative to a legislative body dilettante

noun

a person who cultivates an area of interest, such as the arts, without real commitment or knowledge foment

verb

stir up a violent sentiment garrulous

adjective

excessively talking, especially on trivial matters gauche

adjective
unsophisticated and socially awkward haphazard

adjective
lacking any obvious principle of organization, marked by great carelessness hegemony

noun
leadership or dominance, especially by one state or social group over others inimical

adjective
tending to obstruct or harm inscrutable

adjective
impossible to understand or interpret
notes:
The image is inscrutable.

insolent
adjective
showing a rude arrogant lack of respect intrepid

adjective
fearless

inveterate
adjective
having a particular habit that is unlikely to change irrevocable

adjective
not able to be changed
notes:
Blindness and deafness are irrevocable but it did not stop Helen Keller from earning a Bachelor of Arts degree.

lionizeverb*

give a lot of public attention and approval to (someone)

notes:

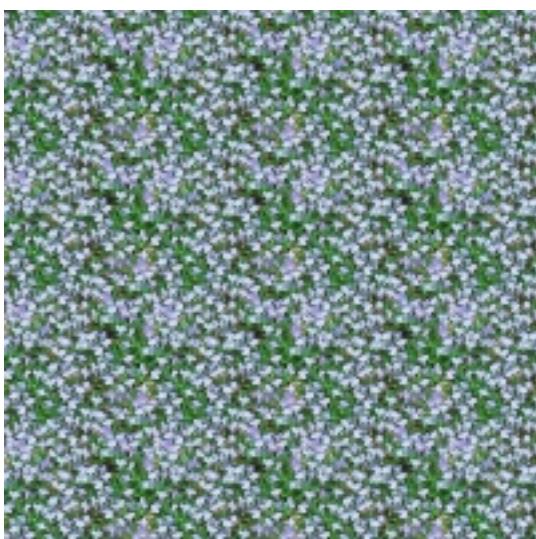

Abraham Lincoln, the photograph was taken on 5 February 1865.

munificentadjective*

displaying great generosity

notes:

Children's hospital foundation colorado receiving a US $1000 donation.

myriadnoun*

an extremely great number of people or things obsequious

adjective

showing servile obedience, attempting to win favour from influential people by flattery ostracize

verb

exclude from a society or group pedestrian

adjective

lacking inspiration or excitement pernicious

adjective

having a harmful effect, especially in a gradual subtle way poignant

adjective

evoking a keen sense of sadness

notes:

Afghan mother comforting her crying child.

precipitous

adjective

(of an action) done suddenly and without careful consideration

notes:

Woman buried hastily thinking she died.

prodigious

adjective

remarkably great in extent, size, or degree prolific

adjective

producing a great number or amount of something

notes:

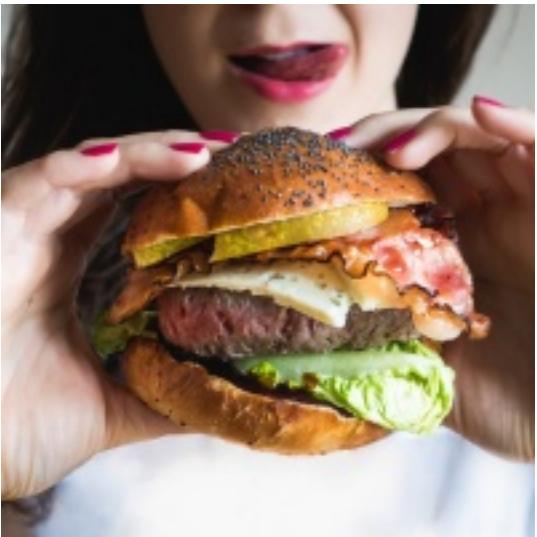

Beehive with hundreds of bees at work.

propitious

adjective

indicating a good chance of success ravenous

adjective
extremely hungry

repudiate
verb
refuse to accept

rescind
verb
cancel (an order or agreement) resurgent

adjective

increasing or reviving after a period of time reverent

adjective

feeling or showing deep respect sanction

verb

give official permission or approval

noun

a penalty for disobeying a law or rule sporadic

adjective
occurring at irregular intervals stale

adjective
no longer fresh, usually as a result of being kept for too long subversive

adjective
tending to destroy or damage something, especially an established political system sycophant

noun

someone who praises powerful people in order to gain a personal advantage taciturn

adjective

(of a person) uncommunicative in speech temper

verb

to soften or tone down

tractable

adjective

(of a person) easy to control or influence vacillate

verb

waver between different opinions or actions winsome

adjective

pleasing often because of a childlike charm and innocence

Common Words 6

antipathy

noun

a feeling of strong dislike appease

verb

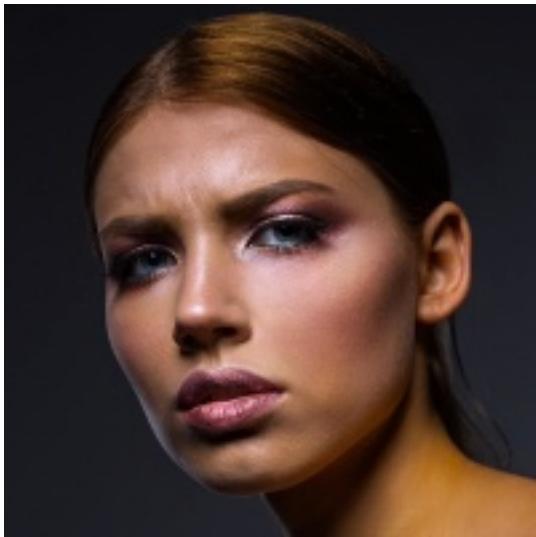

pacify (someone) by acceding to their demands arduous

adjective

difficult, needing a lot of effort and energy askanceadverb*

to look at or think about someone with doubt or disapproval banalitynoun*

something that lacks originality, freshness, or novelty bolsterverb*

support or strengthen

notes:

The pillars support the weight of the building.

capriciousadjective*

changing mood or behaviour suddenly and unexpectedly compulsoryadjective* required by law or a rule

notes:

Due to COVID-19, wearing a mask is compulsory when going out.

contritionnoun*

the feeling of guilt that comes from doing something bad craven

adjective
lacking the least bit of courage deleterious

adjective
causing harm or damage

dilatory
adjective
intended to cause delay dispassionateadjective* not influenced by strong feeling, and so able to be rational disseminateverb*

spread (something) widely

notes:

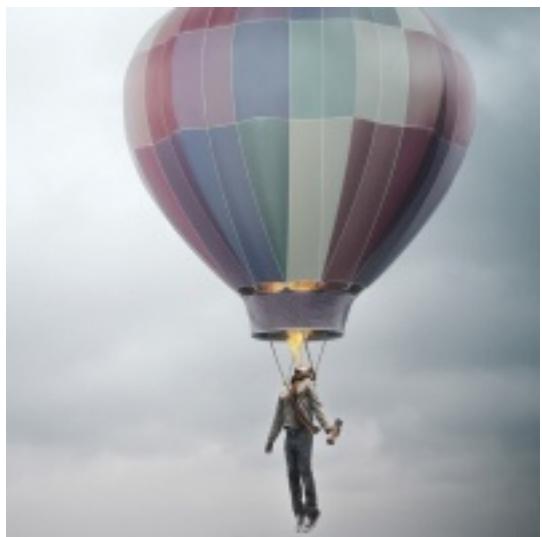

Virus spreading across city.

duressnoun*

threats used to force a person to do something economical

adjective
marked by careful and efficient use of resources edifying

adjective
enlightening or uplifting so as to encourage intellectual or moral improvement efficacious

adjective
successful in producing a desired or intended result

elicitadjective*

to call forth or draw out (something, such as information or a response) eruditeadjective*

having or showing great knowledge or learning esotericadjective* understood by only a small number of people with specialized knowledge or interest

notes:

Rune letters which were used to write Germanic languages.

fastidiousadjective* giving too much attention to small details and wanting everything to be correct and perfect fluxnoun*

continuous change

furtiveadjective*

attempting to avoid notice or attention, typically because discovery would lead to trouble harriedadjective*

worried and angry, especially because people keep wanting things from you ignominiousadjective* deserving or causing public disgrace or shame impartialadjective* not biased partial or biased, treating all equally imprudent

adjective
lacking wisdom or good judgement indecorous

adjective
not in keeping with good taste and propriety joyful

adjective
cheerful and friendly

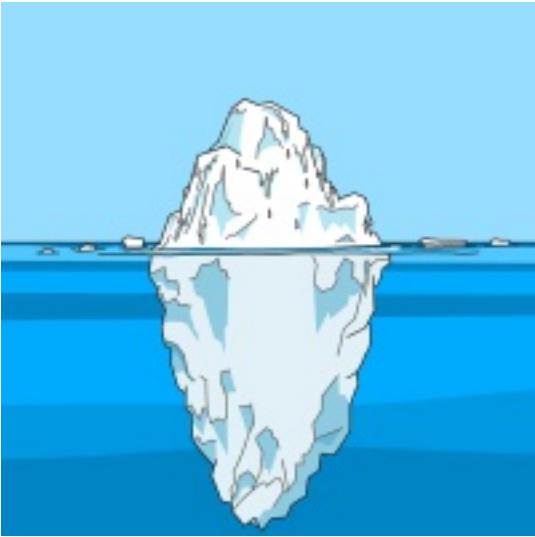

maladroit
adjective
lacking adroitness

maverick
adjective
an independent-minded person, often behaving differently from the expected or usual way mendacity

adjective
the act of not telling the truth misconstrueverb*

interpret (a person's words or actions) wrongly mundaneadjective*

lacking interest or excitement

adjective

of this earthly world rather than a heavenly or spiritual one nonplussedadjective*

so surprised and confused that one is unsure how to react nuance

noun

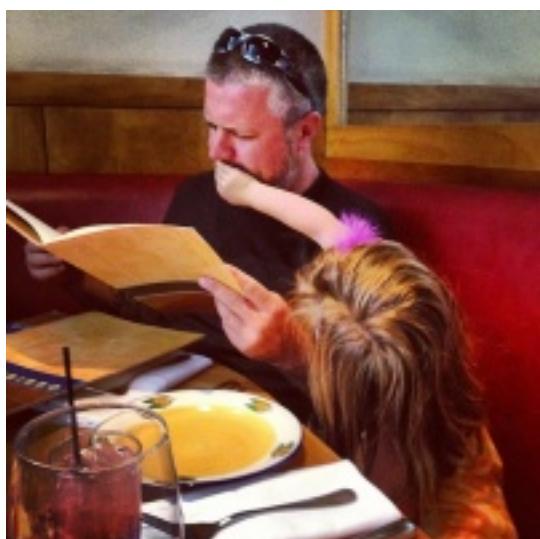

a subtle difference in meaning, expression, or sound opulence

noun

great wealth or luxuriousness pejorative

adjective

expressing contempt or disapproval polemic

noun

a strong verbal or written attack on someone or something posit

verb

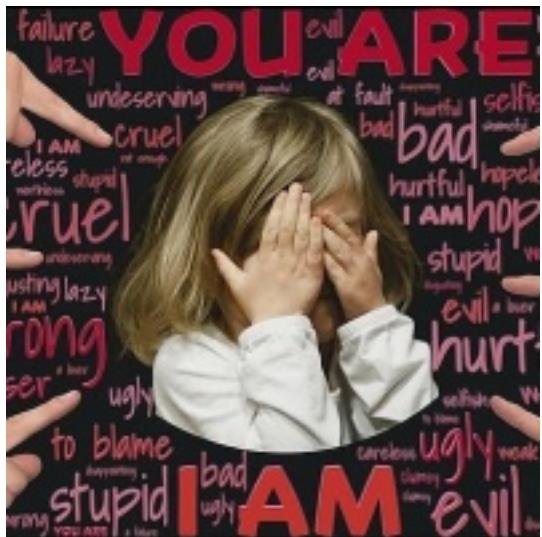

assume as fact or as a basic for argument rebuke

verb

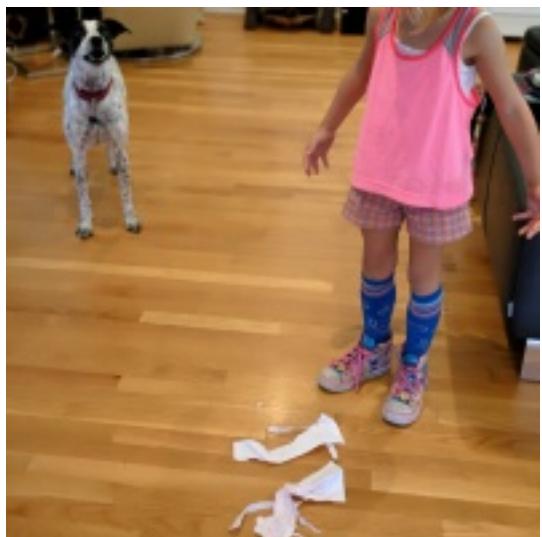

express sharp disapproval or criticism of (someone) because of their behaviour or actions reproach

verb

verb to criticize someone, especially for not being successful or not doing what is expected specious

adjective

superficially plausible, but actually wrong

notes:

The classic "my dog ate my homework".

stringent

adjective

adjective
marked by rigor, strictness, or severity especially with regard to rule or standard sullen

adjective
bad-tempered and sulky

timorous
adjective
showing or suffering from nervousness or a lack of confidence transient

adjective
lasting only for a short time truncate

verb

to make something shorter or quicker, especially by removing the end of it

Basic Words 1

acme

noun

the point at which something is at its best or most highly developed affable

adjective

friendly, good-natured, or easy to talk to bleak

adjective

little or no hope for the future candid

adjective
truthful and straightforward

HONEST

censor
verb
examine officially and suppress unacceptable parts of it demean

verb
cause a severe loss in dignity and respect for (someone or something) demure

adjective
reserved, modest, and shy diabolical

adjective
characteristic of the devil dog

verb
to follow or track especially with hostile intent dupe

noun

a person who is easily deceived or fooled

verb

to deceive or cheat easily embroil

verb

involve (someone) deeply in an argument, conflict, or difficult situation err

verb

make a mistake

erratic

adjective

not even or regular in pattern or movement hound

verb

harass, persecute, or pursue relentlessly indict

verb

formally accuse of or charge with a crime indigenous

adjective

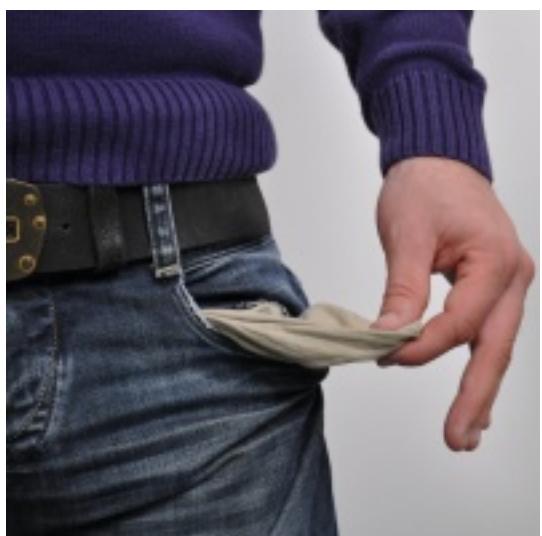

originating naturally in a particular place indignant

adjective

feeling or showing anger because of something unjust or unworthy insolvent

adjective

unable to pay debts owed inundate

verb

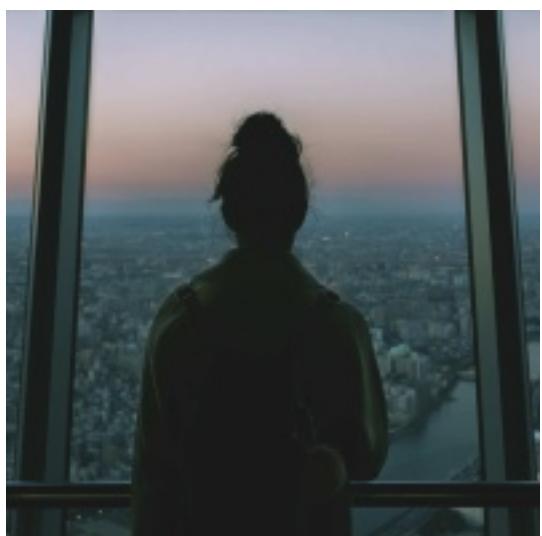

overwhelm (someone) with things or people to be dealt with macabre

adjective

disturbing because concerned with or causing a fear of death mesmerize

verb

capture the complete attention of (someone) peruse

verb

read (something), typically in a thorough or careful way pine

verb

to yearn intensely and persistently especially for something unattainable

notes:

An event to honor the lives of those who committed suicide in Biloxi, September 29, 2017.

pinnacle

noun

the highest point of development or achievement profuse

adjective

produced or given in large amounts

notes:

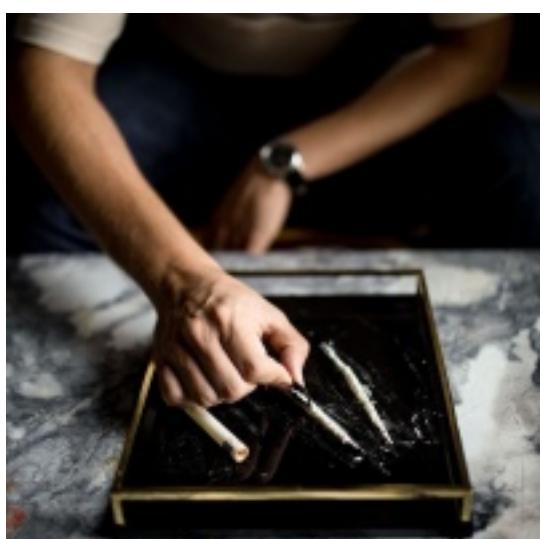

Gold ceiling lighting.

remiss

adjective

lacking care or attention to duty reprobate

noun

a person of bad character and habits retiring

adjective
shy and fond of being on one's own screed

noun
a long speech or piece of writing, typically one regarded as tedious serendipity

noun
the occurrence and development of events by chance in a happy or beneficial way slapdash

adjective
done too hurriedly and carelessly spendthrift

noun
a person who spends money in an extravagant, irresponsible way stipend

noun
a periodic payment, especially a scholarship or allowance granted to a student summit

noun

the highest point of a hill or mountain

noun

a meeting between heads of government telling

adjective

having a striking or revealing affect telltale

adjective

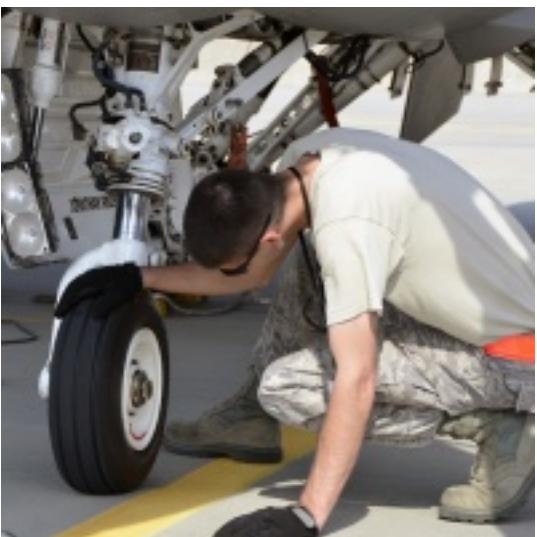

revealing, indicating, or betraying something tender

verb

offer or present (something) formally thoroughgoing

adjective

involving or attending to every detail or aspect of something thrifty

adjective

using money and other resources carefully and not wastefully underwrite

verb
to provide financial support unnerve

verb
make (someone) lose courage or confidence variance

noun
the fact or quality of being different, divergent, or inconsistent vindictive

adjective

showing a strong or unreasoning desire for revenge voracious

adjective

very eager for something, especially a lot of food

Basic Words 2

aboveboard

adjective

legitimate, honest, and open animosity

noun

a strong feeling of dislike or hatred avarice

noun

extreme greed for wealth or material gain beatific

adjective

feeling or expressing blissful happiness, especially in a holy way becoming

adjective

attractively suitable or appropriate bellicose

adjective

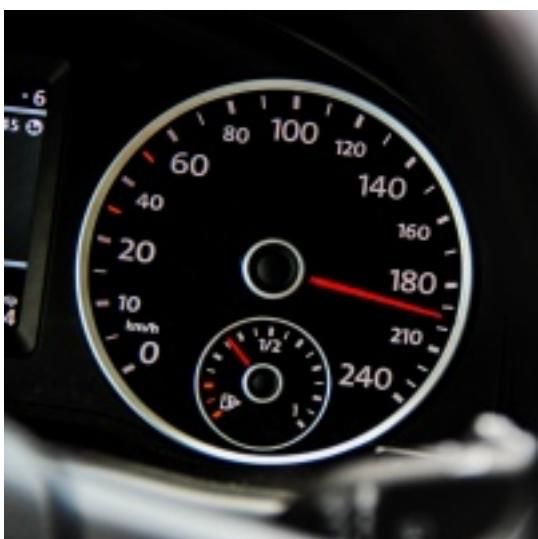

demonstrating aggression and willingness to fight cadaverous

adjective
very pale, thin, or bony cardinal

adjective
of the greatest importance catalyst

noun
a person or thing that precipitates an event chauvinist

adjective

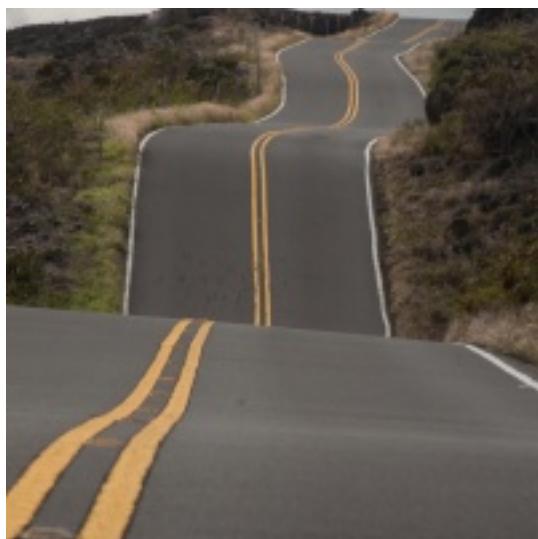

a person who believes in the superiority of his cause or people check

verb

stop or slow the progress of (something, typically something undesirable) chequered

adjective

having had both successful and unsuccessful periods in your past cogent

adjective
(of an argument or case) clear, logical, and convincing corroborate

verb
to support (a statement, theory, or idea) by providing information or evidence desecrate

verb
treat (a sacred place or thing) with violent disrespect
notes:
Destroyed nandi idol.

disparate

adjective

essentially different in kind, not able to be compared errant

adjective

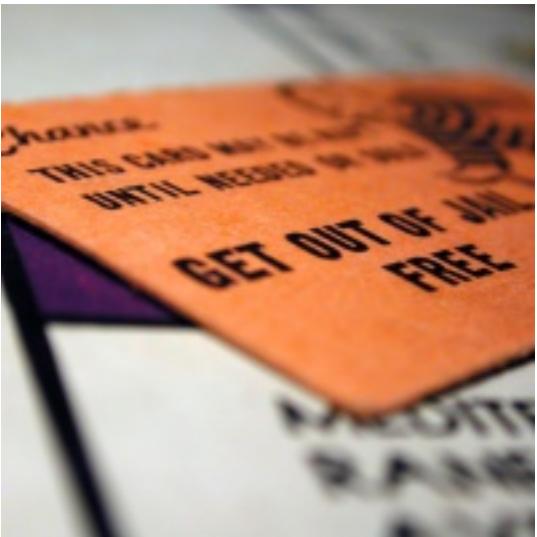

deviating from the regular or proper course exhort

verb

strongly encourage or urge (someone) to do something extenuating

adjective

(of a factor or situation) serving to lessen the seriousness of an offense ferret

verb

rummage about in a place or container in search of something fleece

verb

obtain a great deal of money from (someone), typically by overcharging or swindling them flush

adjective

having plenty of something, especially money heyday

noun

the period of one's greatest success or popularity hodgepodge

noun

a confused mixture of different things immaterial

adjective
unimportant under the circumstances

imponderable
adjective
impossible to estimate or assess junta

noun
a military or political group that rules a country after taking power by force melee

noun

a confused fight or struggle misanthrope

noun

a person who dislikes humankind and avoids human society moment

importance in influence or effect pittance

noun

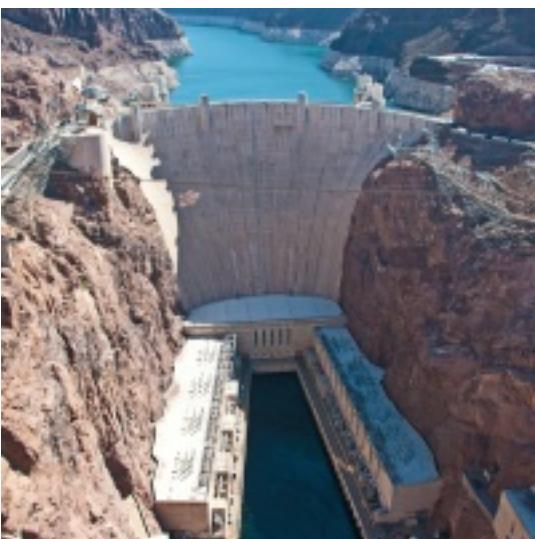

a very small or inadequate amount of money powwow

noun

an informal meeting for discussion, especially among friends or colleagues preemptive

adjective

taken as a measure against something possible, anticipated, or feared pugnacious

adjective

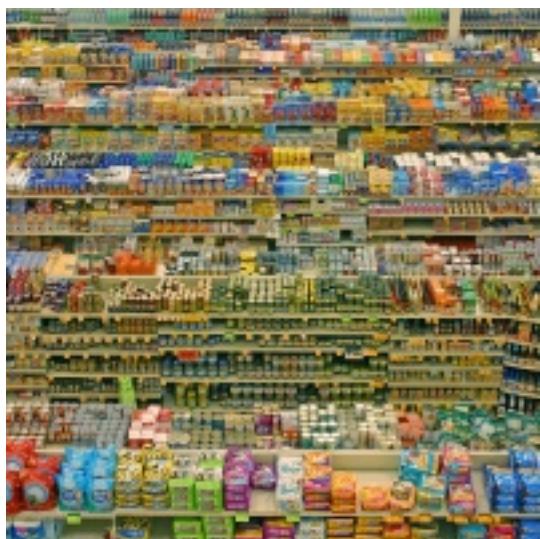

eager or quick to argue, quarrel, or fight raft

noun

a large amount of something replete

adjective

filled or well-supplied with something sanctimonious

adjective

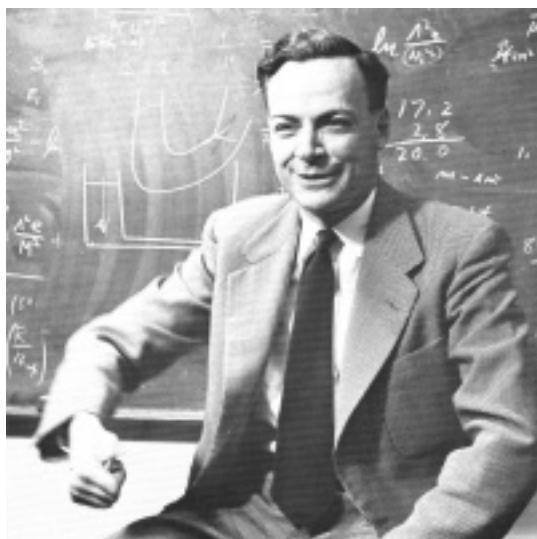

making a show of being morally superior to other people sanguine

adjective

optimistic or positive, especially in an apparently bad or difficult situation scintillating

adjective

brilliantly and excitingly clever or skillful

notes:

Richard Feynman, a brilliant teacher. His lectures were both exciting and engaging.

start

verb

jerk or give a small jump from surprise or alarm stem

verb

stop or restrict (the flow of something) unconsciousable

adjective

shockingly unfair or unjust vicarious

adjective

experienced in the imagination through the feelings or actions of another person virago

noun

a violent or bad-tempered woman wax

verb

to increase in size, strength, or intensity

Basic Words 3

appreciable

adjective

large or important enough to be noticed apprehension

noun

fear that something bad or unpleasant will happen ascendancy

noun

a position of dominant power or influence avid

adjective

showing a keen interest in or enthusiasm for something boon

noun

a thing that is helpful or beneficial

adjective

very close and convivial consummate

adjective

showing great skill and flair

verb

to make something complete or perfect convivial

adjective

friendly and making you feel happy and welcome dearth

noun

a scarcity or lack of something deter

verb

prevent the occurrence of disenfranchise

verb
deprive (someone) of the right to vote disheartened

adjective
having lost determination or confidence elusive

adjective
difficult to find, catch, achieve, or remember
notes:
Stylurus notatus, the elusive clubtail is a species in the family of dragonflies.

endemic

adjective

belonging or native to a particular place or country entice

verb

attract or tempt by offering pleasure or advantage fete

verb

honour or entertain (someone) lavishly

notes:

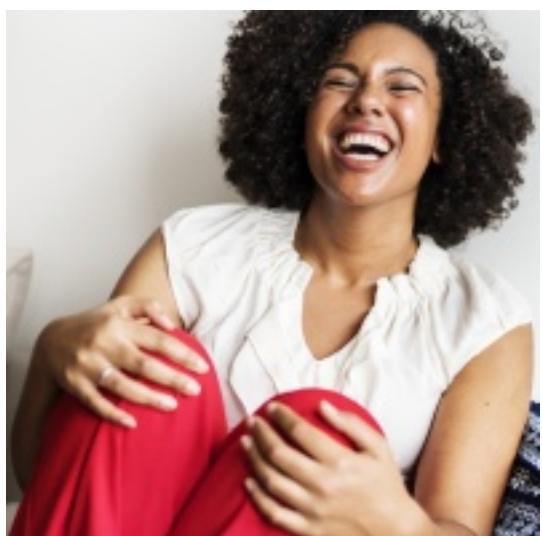

Miss Universe 2008, Dayana Mendoza.

fledglingadjective*

young, inexperienced, or underdeveloped flounderverb*

to struggle clumsily or helplessly guffawverb*

laugh loudly and heartily impermeable

adjective

not allowing fluid to pass through incessant

adjective

(of something regarded as unpleasant) continuing without pause or interruption inclement

adjective

(of the weather) unpleasantly cold or wet

adjective

severe in temper or action ingenuity

noun

the quality of being clever, original, and inventive jocular

adjective

fond of or characterized by joking

notes:

Dave Chappelle, a comedian.

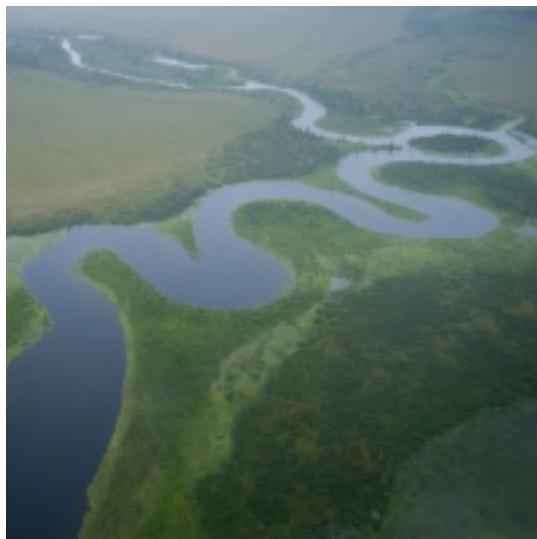

malleable

adjective

(of a material) able to be hammered or pressed into shape

adjective

easily influenced meander

verb
to wander aimlessly

moot
adjective
subject to debate, dispute, or uncertainty morose

adjective
unhappy, annoyed, and unwilling to speak or smile

muted

adjective

of low intensity and reduced volume obdurate

adjective

stubbornly refusing to change one's opinion or course of action ornate

adjective

elaborately or highly decorated

pithy
adjective
(of speech or writing) expressing an idea cleverly in a few words

UNITED WE STAND

plodding
adjective
slow, continuous, and not exciting proponent

noun
a person who pleads for a cause or propounds an idea

quandary

noun

a state of perplexity or uncertainty over what to do in a difficult situation raffish

adjective

unconventional and slightly disreputable, especially in an attractive way renege

verb

go back on a promise, undertaking, or contract resolve

verb

decide firmly on a course of action respite

noun

a short period of rest from something difficult or unpleasant robust

adjective

strong and healthy

adjective

(of wine or food) marked by richness and fullness of flavor snide

adjective

derogatory or mocking in an indirect way

notes:

Caricature of Anthony Fauci, an American physician and immunologist.

stolid

adjective

calm, dependable, and showing little emotion or excitement thwart

verb

prevent (someone) from accomplishing something transitory

adjective
lasting a very short time

Basic Words 4

altruism

noun

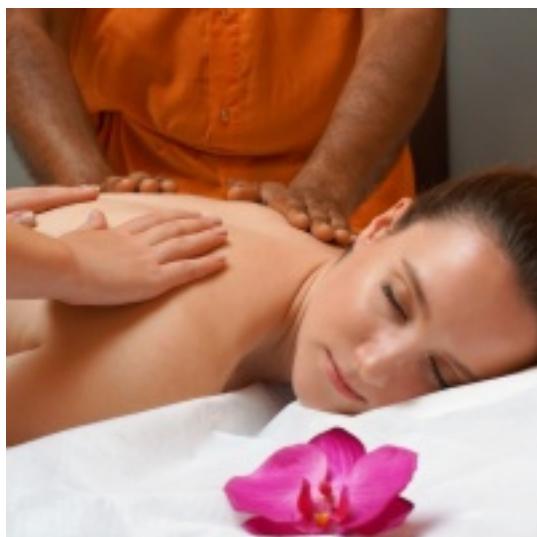

unselfish concern for the well-being of others, even if it may be harmful for yourself assail

verb

to attack violently or criticize strongly assuage

verb

make (an unpleasant feeling) less intense augment

verb

make (something) greater by adding to it benign

adjective

gentle and kind

adjective

(of a disease) not harmful in effect commendable

adjective

deserving praise

conducive

adjective

making a certain situation or outcome likely cornucopia

noun

an abundant, overflowing supply credence

noun

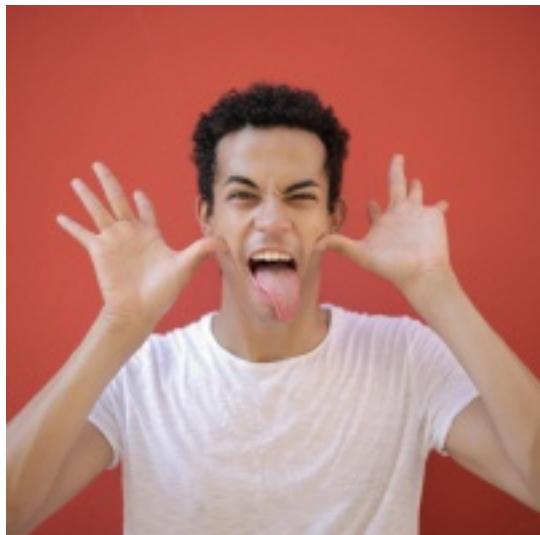

belief in or acceptance of something as true debase

verb

reduce (something) in quality or value derisive

adjective

expressing contempt or ridicule detrimental

adjective

tending to cause harm

notes:

Human lungs of a non-smoker (left) vs. smoker (right).

empatheticadjective*

showing an ability to understand and share the feelings of another

notes:

"I'm myself — and I want to know who they are, I want them to feel comfortable telling me their story." — Michelle Obama euphorianoun*

a feeling or state of intense excitement and happiness facetiousadjective* treating serious issues with deliberately inappropriate humour

notes:

Hokusai, the laughing demon.

fickle

adjective

changing frequently, especially as regards one's loyalties or affections genial

adjective

friendly and cheerful genteel

adjective

being very polite, gentle, or graceful, typical of a high social class

glibadjective*

(of words or a speaker) fluent but insincere and shallow

notes:

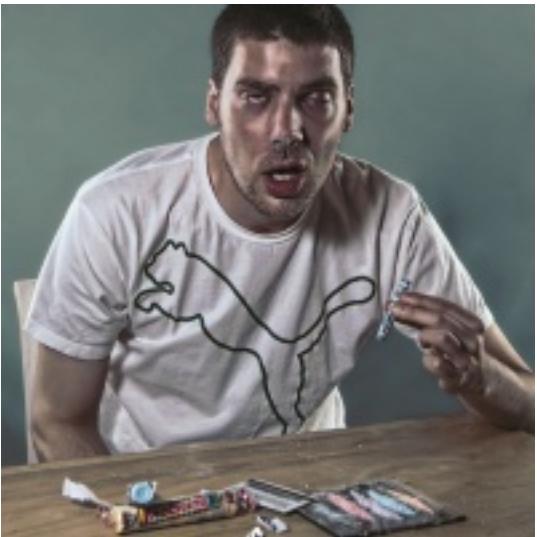

Brian Baumgartner from the American sitcom television, the Office.

grovelverb*

show submission or fear hamstrungverb*

to render powerless or useless illicit

adjective

contrary to or forbidden by law impeccable

adjective

in accordance with the highest standards impede

verb

to slow the progress by means of obstacles or hindrances irresolute

adjective
showing or feeling hesitancy jargon

noun
special words and phrases used by particular groups of people, especially in their work lucid

adjective
expressed clearly; easy to understand martial

adjective
relating to fighting or war perennial

adjective
lasting an indefinitely long time; suggesting self-renewal perpetuate

verb
make (something) continue indefinitely
notes:
Perpetual motion wheels as designed by Leonardo da Vinci.

pertinent

adjective

relevant or applicable to a particular matter precedent

noun

an example that is used to justify similar occurrences at a later time

notes:

Women wearing surgical masks during the influenza epidemic, Brisbane (1919).

pristine

adjective

clean and fresh as if new

adjective

having its original purity

rankleverb*

to cause anger, irritation, or deep bitterness, especially one that lasts a long time sentimentaladjective* of or prompted by feelings of tenderness, sadness, or nostalgia smatteringnoun*

a slight superficial knowledge of a language or subject

noun

a small amount of something spurn

verb

reject with disdain or contempt surly

adjective

bad-tempered and unfriendly tumult

noun

a loud, confused noise, especially one caused by a large mass of people

notes:

Tens of thousands participating in a protest on 22 February 2011 in Manama, Bahrain.

uncompromising

adjective

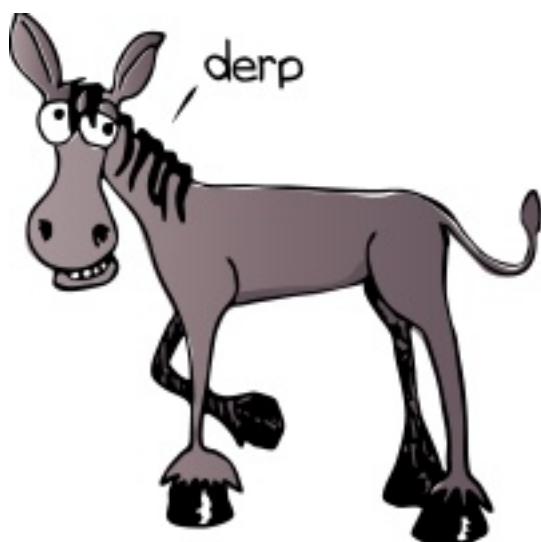

showing an unwillingness to make concessions to others, especially by changing one's ways or opinions unruly

adjective

not readily ruled, disciplined, or managed vacuous

adjective

lacking in ideas or intelligence

Basic Words 5

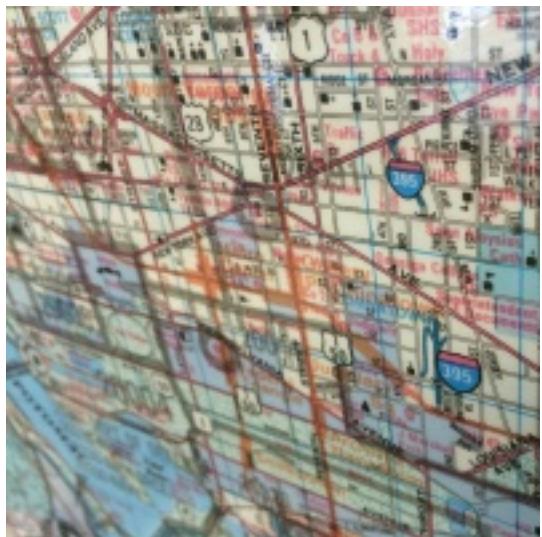

brusquely
adverb
in a blunt direct manner collusion

noun
secret or illegal cooperation in order to deceive others complacent

adjective
uncritical satisfaction with oneself or one's achievements convoluted

adjective

extremely complex and difficult to follow credulity

noun

a tendency to be too ready to believe that something is real or true destitute

adjective

extremely poor and lacking the means to provide for oneself

adjective

lacking possessions and resources devolveverb*

transfer (power) to a lower level

verb

pass into (a different state, especially a worse one) diligentadjective* showing care and earnest effort in one's work or duties discordnoun*

disagreement between people

ekeverb*

to get just enough money or food to be able to continue to exist eludeverb*

escape from or avoid (a danger, enemy, or pursuer), typically in a skillful or cunning way enmitynoun*

a state or feeling of hate or hostility exemplify

verb

be a typical example of

verb

illustrate or clarify by giving an example

notes:

Ghanaian teacher draws Microsoft Word on a blackboard.

foible

noun

a minor weakness or peculiarity in someone's character goad

verb

provoke or annoy (someone) so as to simulate an action impending

adjective

about to happen, usually something unpleasant impregnable

adjective

immune to attack; not to be taken by force

notes:

Windsor Castle, a royal residence in the English county of Berkshire.

irk

verb

to annoy someone

leery

adjective

cautious or wary due to realistic suspicions malevolent

adjective

having or showing a wish to do evil to others maxim

noun

a short, pithy statement expressing a general truth or rule of conduct obstinate

adjective

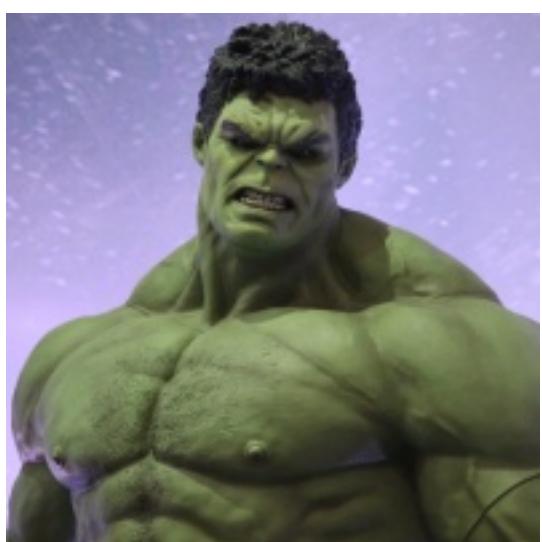

stubbornly refusing to change one's opinion or chosen course of action in spite of reason or persuasion pastoral

adjective

having the simplicity, charm, or other characteristics of country life peevish

adjective

easily irritated or annoyed perturb

verb

make (someone) anxious or unsettled placid

adjective

not easily upset or excited ploy

noun

a cunning plan or action designed to turn a situation to one's own advantage presumption

noun

the act of believing something is true without having any proof

noun

behaviour perceived as arrogant, disrespectful, or rude quip

noun

a witty remark

rash

adjective

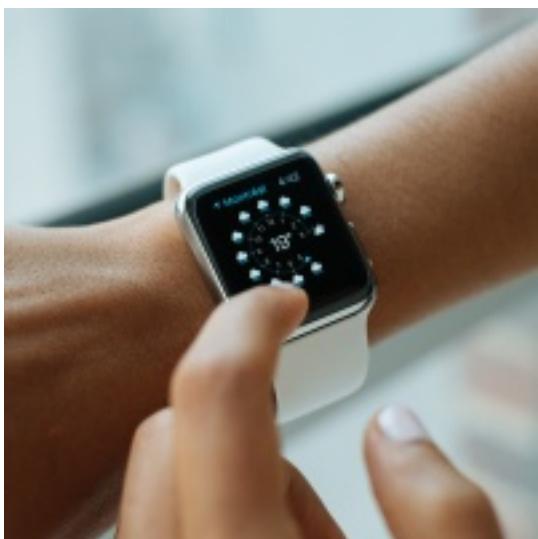

acting or done without careful consideration of the possible consequences reservationnoun*

an expression of doubt qualifying overall approval of a plan or statement retractverb*

to draw or pull back

savvynoun*

shrewdness and practical knowledge; the ability to make good judgements

adjective

shrewd and knowledgeable; having common sense and good judgement

verb

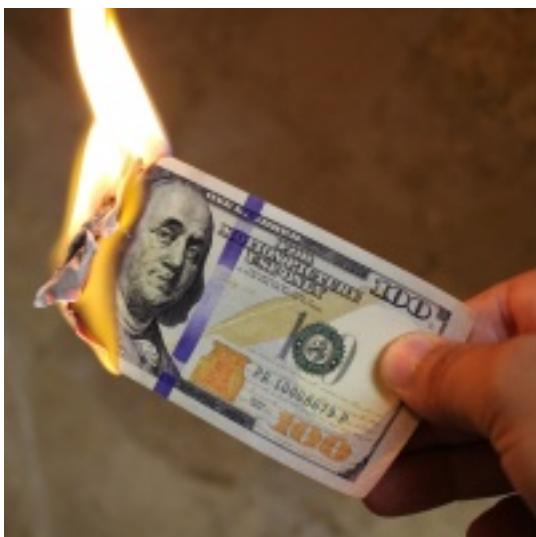

know or understand

serene
adjective
calm, peaceful, and untroubled

smug
adjective
having or showing an excessive pride in oneself or one's achievements squander

verb
waste (something, especially money or time) in a reckless and foolish manner steadfast

adjective
firm in belief, determination, or resolution tact

noun
skill and sensitivity in dealing with others and avoiding giving offense tarnish

verb
make or become less valuable or respected taxing

adjective
physically or mentally demanding tout

verb
attempt to sell (something), typically by a direct or persistent approach travail

noun
painful or laborious effort unprecedented

adjective

never done or known before

notes:

Neil Armstrong, the first person to walk on the Moon.

unseemly

adjective

not according with established standards of good form or taste

Basic Words 6

antedate

verb

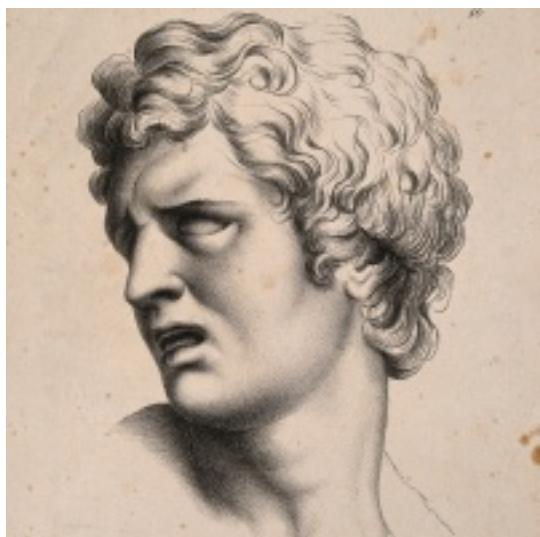

precede in time; come before (something) in date ascribe

verb

to believe or say that something is caused by something else avert

verb

turn away (one's eyes or thoughts)

verb

prevent or ward off (an undesirable occurrence)

begrudgeverb*

envy (someone) the possession or enjoyment of (something)

verb

give reluctantly or resentfully behoвеverb*

it is a duty or responsibility for someone to do something besmirchverb*

damage (someone's reputation) buttress

verb

increase the strength of or justification for cavalier

adjective

showing a lack of proper concern clemency

noun

kindness when giving a punishment coalesceverb*

come together to form one mass or whole

notes:

Rivers merging together

cohesiveadjective*

united and working together effectively consecrateverb*make or declare (something, typically a church) sacred; dedicated formally to a religious purpose conundrumnoun*

a confusing and difficult problem delegateverb*

entrust (a task or responsibility) to another person, typically one who is less senior than oneself

docileadjective*

ready to accept control or instruction eccentricadjective*

(of a person or their behaviour) unconventional and slightly strange emulateverb*

match or surpass (a person or achievement), typically by imitation

notes:

Cow race in Vietnam

evenhandedadjective* fair and impartial in treatment or judgement fawn

verb

(of a person) show flattery or affection, typically in order to gain favour finagle

verb

obtain by dishonest or devious means foolhardy

adjective

recklessly bold or rash; foolishly taking unnecessary risks forthrightadjective*

going straight to the point, free from ambiguity or evasiveness gleanverb*

obtain (information) from various sources, often with difficulty humdrumadjective*

lacking excitement or variety; boringly monotonous implicateverb*

show (someone) to be involved in a crime

verb

convey (a meaning) indirectly through what one says, rather than stating it explicitly incenseverb*

make very angry

incumbentadjective*

necessary for (someone) as a duty or responsibility industrious

adjective
diligent and hard-working insipid

adjective
lacking in qualities that interest, stimulate, or challenge intermittent

adjective
occurring at irregular intervals; not continuous or steady irascible

adjective

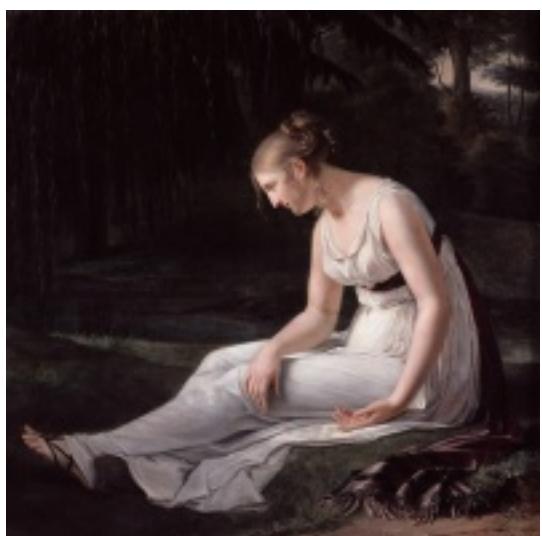

having or showing a tendency to be easily angered lethargic

adjective

characterized by laziness or lack of energy melancholy

noun

a feeling of deep sadness, typically with no obvious cause piquant

adjective

having a pleasantly sharp taste or appetizing flavour precarious

adjective

dependent on circumstances beyond one's control; dangerously likely to fall or collapse preempt

verb

to replace with something considered to be of greater value or priority

notes:

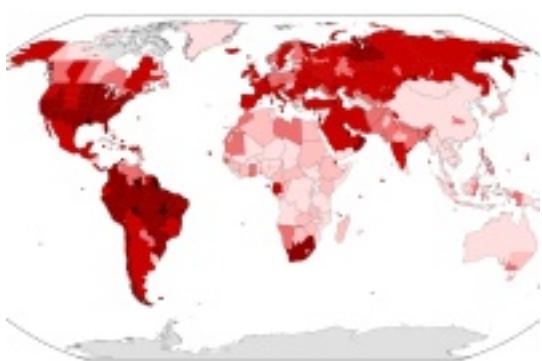

Horses have been replaced by automobiles presumptuous

adjective

overstepping due bounds (as of propriety or courtesy) prevail

verb

prove more powerful or superior

verb

to be widespread or current

notes:

COVID-19 outbreak on world map profusion

noun

an abundance or large quantity of something rakish

adjective

unconventional and slightly disreputable, especially in an attractive way redress

noun

remedy or compensation for a wrong or grievance

rile

verb

make (someone) annoyed or irritated tribulationnoun*

a cause of great trouble or suffering uncannyadjective*

strange or mysterious, especially in an unsettling way veneernoun*

a thin layer of (something, generally wood) used to cover a cheaper material wanton

adjective

(of a cruel or violent action) deliberate and without motive or provocation

Basic Words 7

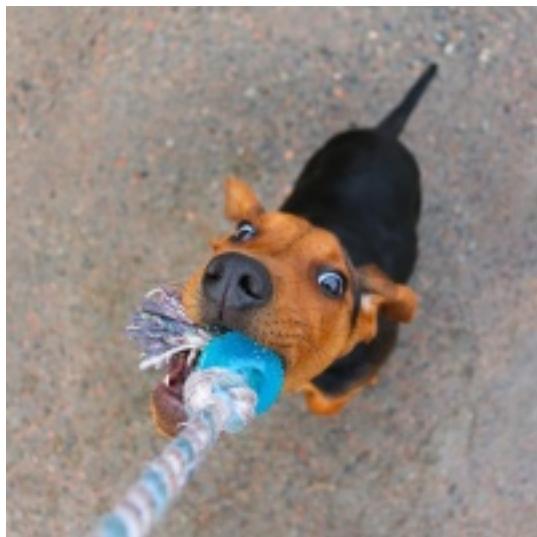

abysmal
adjective
extremely bad

amply
adjective
more than enough

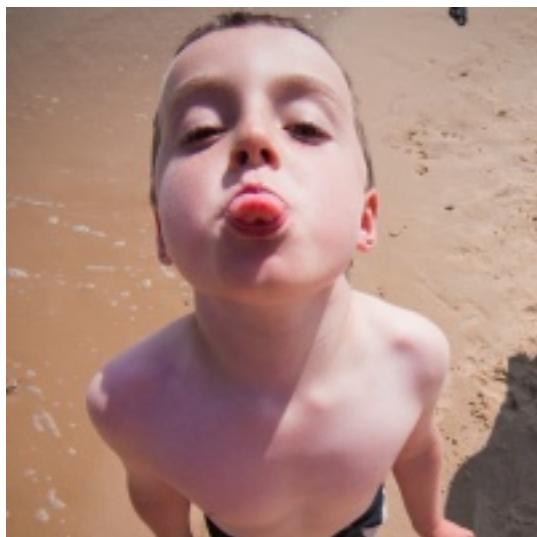

aphorism
noun
a pithy observation which contains a general truth balk

verb

hesitate or be unwilling to accept an idea or undertaking, refuse to comply boorish

adjective

rough and bad-mannered

carping

adjective

characterized by fussy or petulant faultfinding champion

verb

vigorously support or defend the cause of chivalrous

adjective

marked by honor, generosity, and courtesy, especially towards women colossal

adjective

extremely large or great complementary

adjective
mutually enhancing the qualities of each other constraint

noun
a limitation or restriction cosmopolitan

adjective
including people from many different countries creditableadjective* deserving praise but not necessarily outstanding or successful debunkverb*

expose the falseness or hollowness of (an idea or belief)

notes:

MythBusters, an American TV Series attempting to debunk rumours, urban legends, and popular myths.

decimationnoun*

the killing or destruction of a large proportion of a group dilapidatedadjective*

(of a building or object) in a state of ruin as a result of age or neglect discreetadjective* careful in one's speech or actions, especially to keep something confidential or to avoid embarrassment dispatchverb*

deal with (a task or opponent) quickly and efficiently

noun

the property of being prompt and efficient enumerate

verb

mention (a number of things) one by one

verb

to ascertain the number of futile

adjective

incapable of producing any useful result hamper

verb

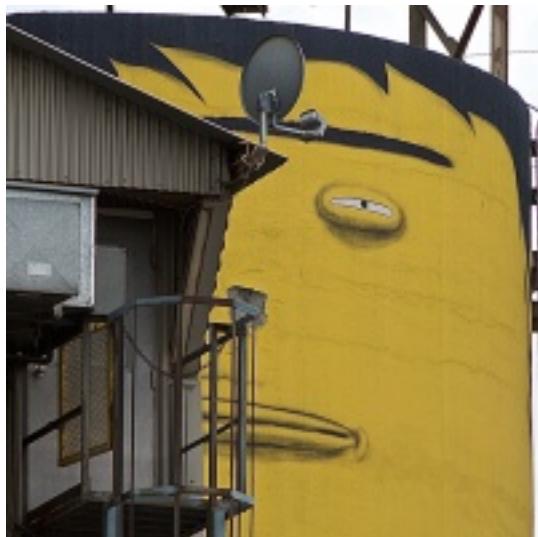

hinder the movement or progress of

I have seen pictures of pretty birds far away but now I know it will be a gift from I don't know. I am not good with birds, and if I can't forget you as sister. - The great pink rose is just now open a delicate, so that leaves fully open the enjoyment. Long ago I was a bird painter, and the time there was a certain kind of soft open, and with another kind of kind of a bird. It is a Marmoset his purpose to help him connect with face and separate surround their purpose a state of a bird makes their values... he does not taste animal and financial worth of all kinds and even birds. - But I want to you this, and inarticulate

adjective

unable to express one's ideas or feelings clearly or easily

inkling

noun

a slight knowledge or suspicion; a hint malodorous

adjective

smelling very unpleasant

miscreantnoun*

a person who has done something wrong or unlawful misogynistnoun*

a person who dislikes, despises, or hates women

notes:

Misogynist urinal

morphverb*

to gradually change from one thing to another, undergo a transformation obliging

adjective
willing to do a service or kindness perquisite

noun
a benefit which one enjoys or is entitled to on account of one's job or position provisional

adjective
serving for the time being, likely to change later

qualmnoun*

an uneasy feeling of doubt, worry, or fear, especially about one's own conduct resignationnoun*

the acceptance of something undesirable but inevitable snubverb*

to treat with disdain or contempt, especially by ignoring sordid

adjective

involving immoral or dishonourable actions and motives staid

adjective

characterized by respect and propriety, serious and rather boring stymie

verb

prevent or hinder the progress of vanquish

verb
defeat thoroughly

vie
verb
compete eagerly with someone in order to do or achieve something

Advanced Words 1

apogee

noun

the highest point in the development of something apostate

noun

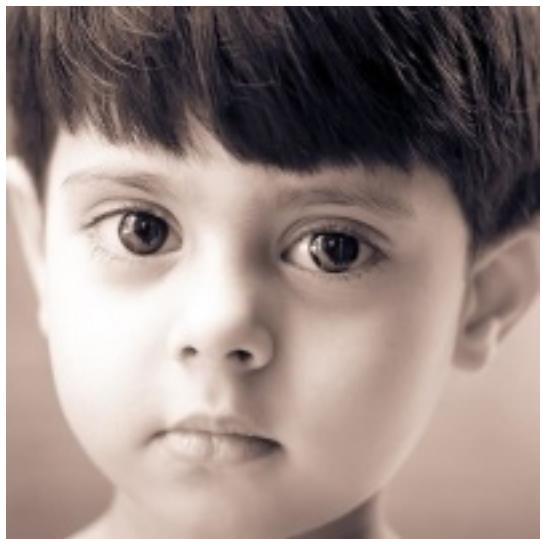

a person who abandons a religious belief or principle arrant

adjective

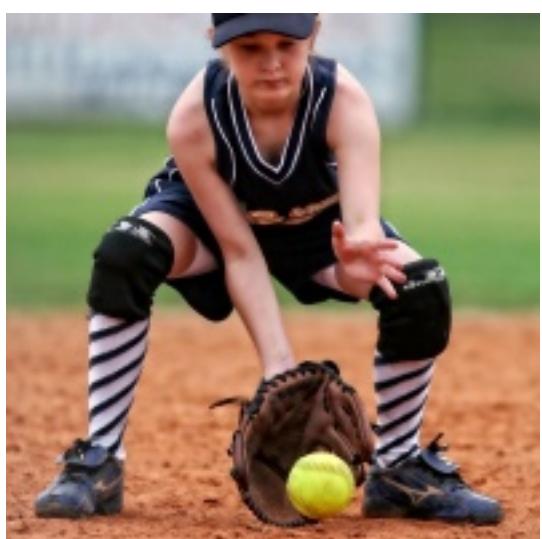

being notoriously bad

artless
adjective
without guile or deception artlessness

noun
the quality of being free from guile or deception attenuate

verb
reduce the force, effect, or value of base

adjective
without moral principles byzantine

adjective
complex or intricate, typically involving a great deal of administrative detail catholic

adjective
including a wide variety of things; all-embracing chary

adjective
cautiously or suspiciously reluctant to do something choleric

adjective
bad-tempered or irritable churlish

adjective
rude and difficult to work with conciliate

verb

stop (someone) being angry or discontented; to make compatible contentious

adjective

causing or likely to cause an argument cow

verb

cause (someone) to submit to one's wishes by intimidation defrayverb*

provide money to pay (a cost or expense), especially by an organization diatribenoun*

a forceful and bitter verbal attack against someone or something equivocateverb*

use ambiguous language so as to conceal the truth exegesis

noun

critical explanation or interpretation of a text, especially of scripture expansive

adjective

(of a person or their manner) relaxed and genially frank

expunge

verb

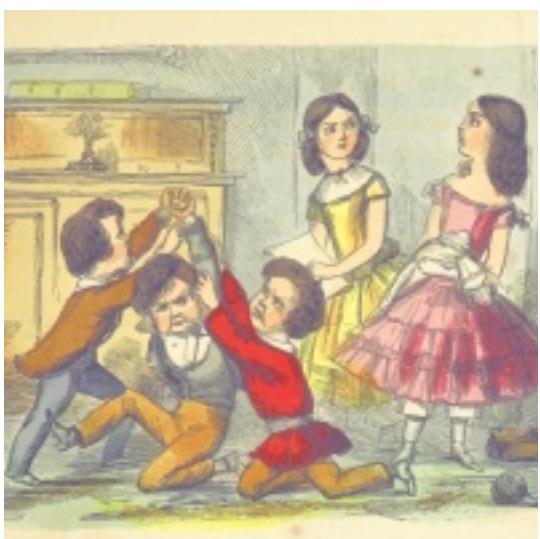

remove completely (something unwanted or unpleasant)

factional
adjective
relating or inclined to dissension, likely to argue or disagree feckless

adjective
lacking initiative or strength of character fractious

adjective
(typically of children) irritable and quarrelsome hector

verb

talk to (someone) in a bullying way imbibe

verb

to drink, especially alcohol

verb

absorb or assimilate (ideas or knowledge) indigent

adjective

poor enough to need help from others

noun

a poor or needy person

insufferable
adjective
too extreme to bear

kowtow
verb
to act in an obsequious manner, try to gain favour by flattery lascivious

adjective
feeling or revealing an overt sexual desire malfeasance

noun

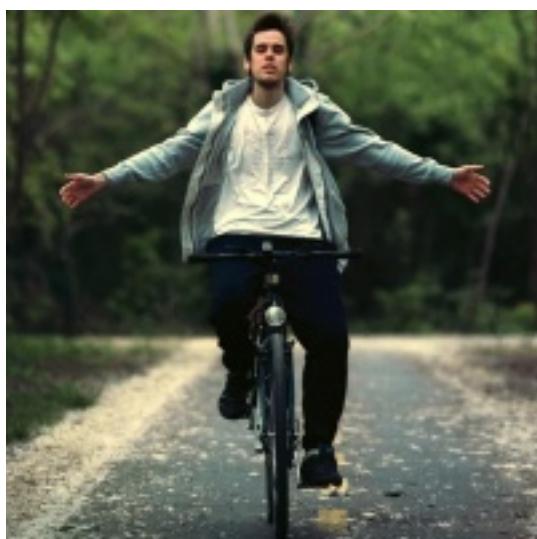

wrongdoing, especially by a public official nadir

noun

the lowest or most unsuccessful point in a situation overweening

adjective

showing excessive confidence or pride pariah

noun
one that is despised or rejected penurious

adjective
extremely poor

ponderous
adjective
slow and clumsy because of great weight prosaic

adjective
lacking imagination or originality saturnine

adjective
gloomy and unfriendly

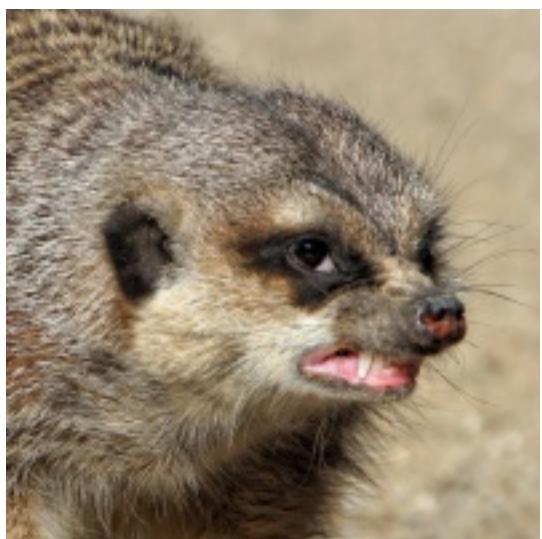

sedulous
adjective
(of a person or action) showing dedication and diligence supercilious

adjective

behaving as if superior to others truculence

noun

defiant aggressiveness

truculent

adjective

eager or quick to argue or fight turpitude

noun

wicked behaviour or character untoward

adjective

unexpected and not favourable; inconvenient vicissitude

noun

a change of circumstances or fortune, typically one that is unpleasant are fired!

zeitgeist

noun

the defining spirit of a particular period of history as shown by the ideas and beliefs of the time

notes:

Fashion in the 70s.

Advanced Words 2

arch

adjective

deliberately playful and teasing

arriviste

noun

an ambitious or ruthlessly self-seeking person who has risen to a higher class, especially by dubious means

benighted

adjective

without knowledge or morals, state of ignorance bilious

adjective

bad-tempered, always in a bad mood blinkered

adjective

having a narrow or limited outlook cupidity

noun

greed for money or possessions curmudgeon

noun

a bad-tempered person, especially an old one disabuse

verb

persuade (someone) that an idea or belief is mistaken excoriate

verb

criticize (someone) severely execrate

verb

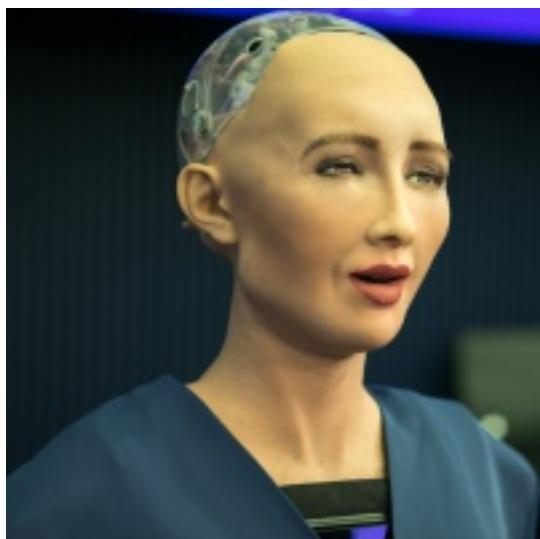

feel or express great loathing for, to utter curses expurgate

verb

remove matter thought to be objectionable or unsuitable factitious

adjective

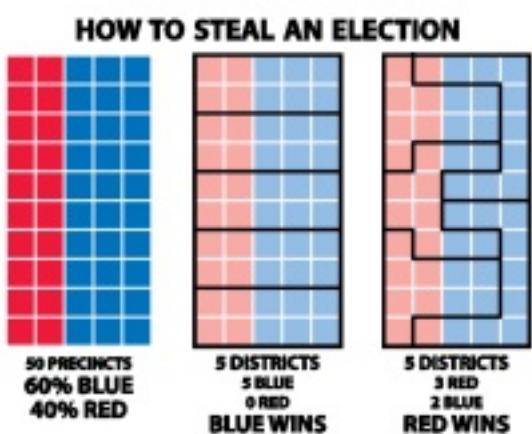

artificially created or developed

notes:

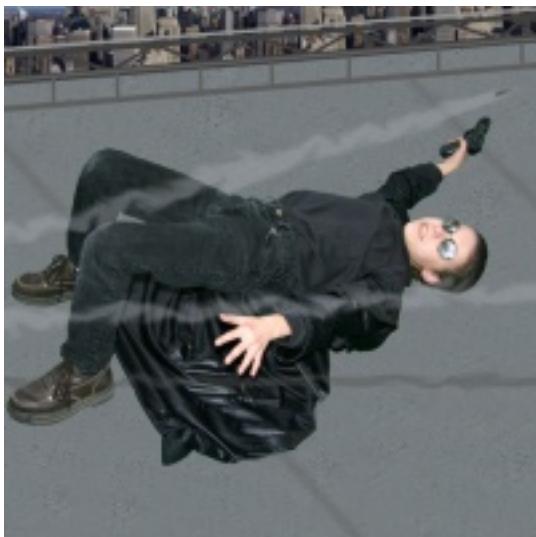

Sophia, a social humanoid robot developed by Hong Kong-based company Hanson Robotics.

fell
adjective
of terrible evil

gerrymander
verb
divide unfairly and to one's advantage; of voting districts hedge

verb
limit or qualify (something) by conditions or exceptions; to avoid a rigid commitment so as to permit withdrawal histrionic

adjective

excessively theatrical or dramatic in character or style imbroglio

noun

an extremely confused, complicated, or embarrassing situation invective

noun

insulting, abusive, or highly critical language jaundice

noun

to be biased against or have distorted judgement, as by envy or resentment jejune

adjective

naive, simplistic, and childish

adjective

dry and uninteresting

juggernaut

noun

a huge, powerful, and overwhelming force malapropism

noun

the mistaken use of a word in place of a similar-sounding one, often with an amusing effect

notes:

Do you mean wait instead of bait?

martinet

noun

a person who demands complete obedience; a strict disciplinarian maudlin

adjective

self-pityingly or tearfully sentimental mellifluous

adjective

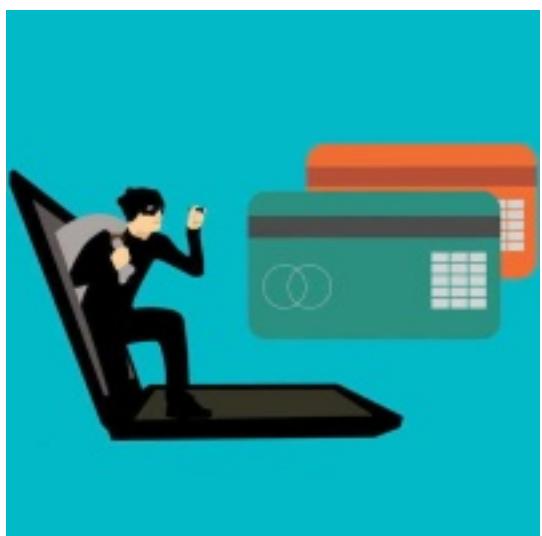

(of a sound) pleasingly smooth and musical to hear mettlesome

adjective

(of a person or animal) full of spirit and courage mulct

verb

take money or possessions from (someone) by fraudulent means

verb

extract money from (someone) by fine or taxation palimpsest

noun

something reused or altered but still bearing visible traces of its earlier form parvenu

noun

a person of humble origin who has gained wealth, influence, or celebrity peremptory

adjective

insisting on immediate attention or obedience phantasmagoria

noun

a sequence of real or imaginary images like that seen in a dream picayune

adjective

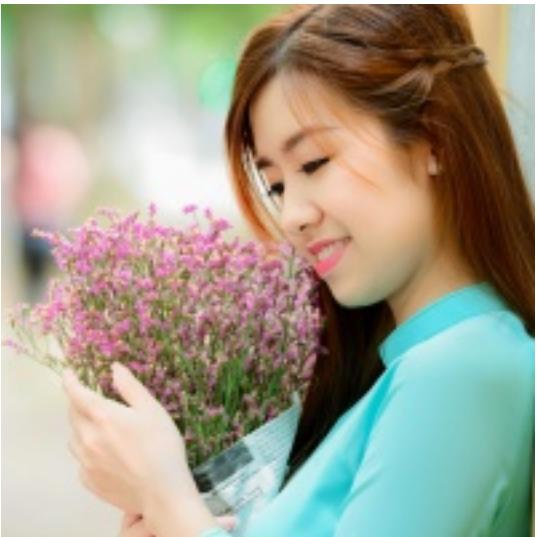

of little value or significance

Pollyanna

noun

an excessively cheerful or optimistic person propitiateverb*

win or regain the favour of (a god or person) by doing something that pleases them proteanadjective*

tending or able to change frequently easily; able to do many different things pyrrhicadjective*

a victory or goal achieved at too great a cost to have been worthwhile quislingnoun*

a traitor who collaborates with an enemy

notes:

Vidkun Quisling, a Norwegian military officer who collaborated with the Nazis during World War II.

quixoticadjective*

extremely idealistic; unrealistic and impractical remonstrateverb*

to present reasons in complaint; plead in protest sangfroidnoun*

composure or coolness shown in danger or under strain sartorialadjective* relating to tailoring, clothes, or style of dress schadenfreudenoun*

satisfaction or pleasure felt at someone else's misfortune sententious

adjective
given to excessive moralizing sybarite

noun
a person who is self-indulgent in their fondness of sensuous luxury tendentious

adjective
expressing a point of view or promoting a particular cause, especially a controversial one venial

adjective

(of a fault or offence) slight and pardonable vituperate

verb

blame or insult (someone) in strong or violent language

Advanced Words 3

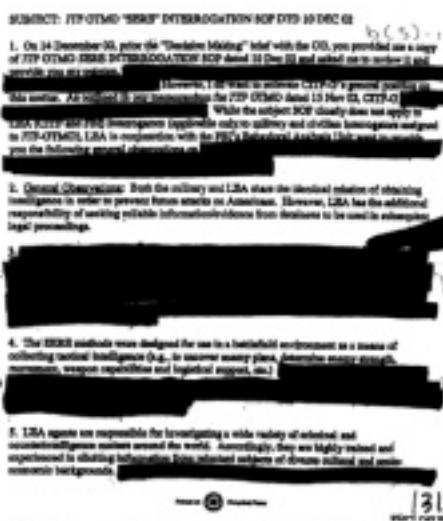

anodyne

adjective

not likely to cause offence or disagreement and somewhat dull

noun

a painkilling drug or medicine bowdlerize

verb

remove material that is considered improper or offensive cede

verb

give up (power or territory) charlatannoun*

a person falsely claiming to have a special knowledge or skill derelictadjective* in a very poor condition as a result of disuse and neglect

adjective

shamefully negligent of one's duties or obligations effronterynoun*

audacious (even arrogant) behaviour that you have no right to

notes:

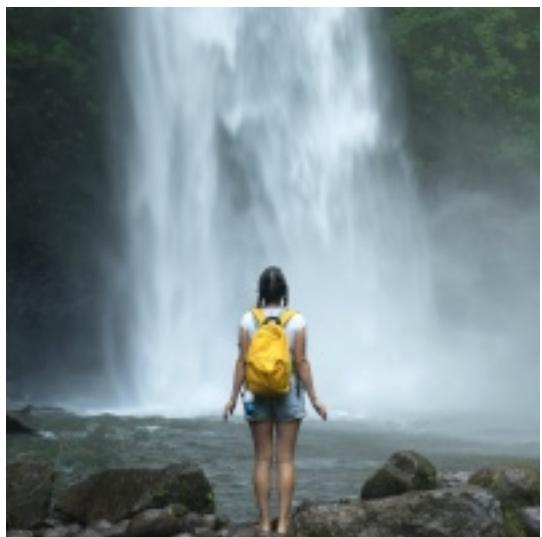

Throwing trash off the bridge.

enjoin

verb

instruct or urge (someone) to do something with authority enthral

verb

capture the fascinated attention of epiphany

noun

a moment of sudden and great revelation or realization flummox

verb

perplex (someone) greatly; be a mystery to gaffe

noun

an unintentional act or remark causing embarrassment to its originator grandiloquent

adjective

extravagant in language, style, or manner, especially in a way that is intended to impress hagiographic

adjective

excessively flattering and idolizing a person, especially a person who is a saint hail

verb

praise (someone or something) enthusiastically illustrious

adjective

well known, respected, and admired for past achievements

importuneverb*

harass (someone) persistently for or to do something imputeverb*

to lay the responsibility or blame for (something, especially something undesirable) to a person or a cause insouciancenoun*

casual lack of concern

ASSASSIN'S GRILL

lampoon

verb

publicly criticize (someone or something) by using ridicule, irony, or sarcasm litany

noun

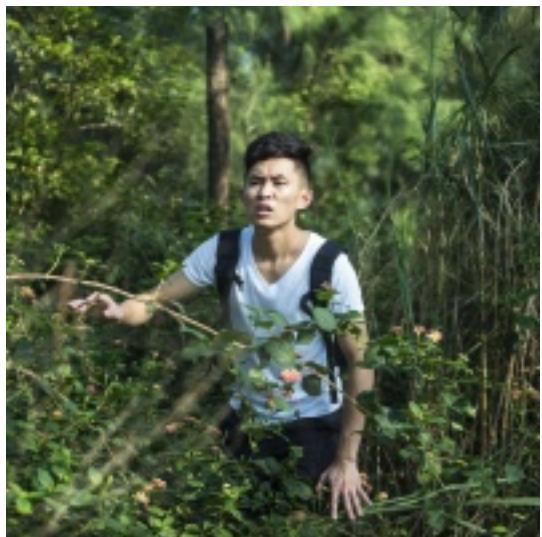

a prolonged or tedious account or a repetitive series lugubrious

adjective

looking or sounding sad and gloomy, especially in an exaggerated manner maunderverb*

to move or act in an aimless, confused manner

verb

to talk (about unimportant matters) in a rambling, foolish, or meaningless way mordantadjective*

having a sharp or critical quality, especially of humour moribundadjective* on the verge of extinction or termination, lacking vitality or vigour pecuniary

adjective
relating to or consisting of money perspicacious

adjective
having keen mental perception and understanding of things plucky

adjective
having or showing determined courage in the face of difficulties portentous

adjective

ominously significant or momentous primacy

noun

the state of being first in order, rank, or importance probity

noun

the quality of having strong moral principles; honesty and decency prognostication

noun

the action of prophesying future events prolix

adjective

(of speech or writing) using too many words; tediously lengthy provident

adjective

making or indicative of timely preparation for the future, especially by saving money punctilious

adjective

showing great attention to detail or correct behaviour

notes:

Fruit art, carving on vegetables quail

verb

feel or show fear or apprehension raconteur

noun

a person who tells anecdotes in a skillful and amusing way recapitulation

noun

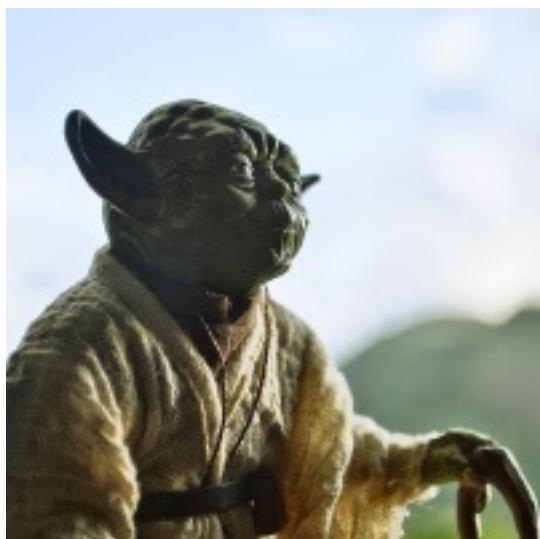

an act or instance of summarizing and restating the main points of something redoubtable

adjective

causing fear or alarm, especially as an opponent sagacious

adjective

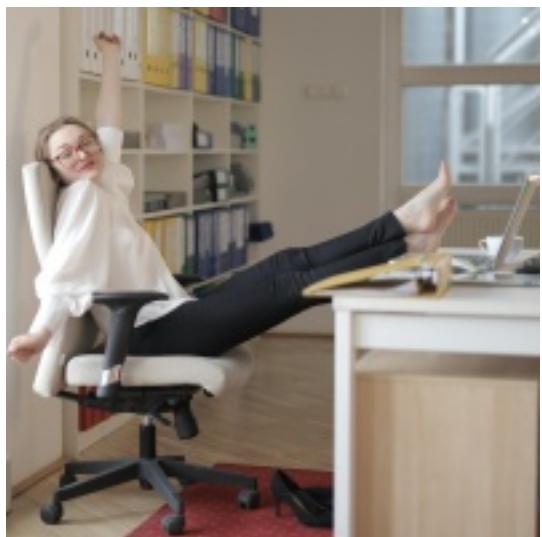

having or showing keen insight and good judgement

notes:

Yoda, a Star Wars Character who is small in size but wise and powerful.

semblancenoun*

the outward appearance or apparent form of something, especially when the reality is different sinecurenoun*

a position requiring little or no work but giving the holder status or financial benefit temeritynoun*

excessive confidence or boldness umbrage

noun

a feeling of anger caused by being offended unforthcoming

adjective

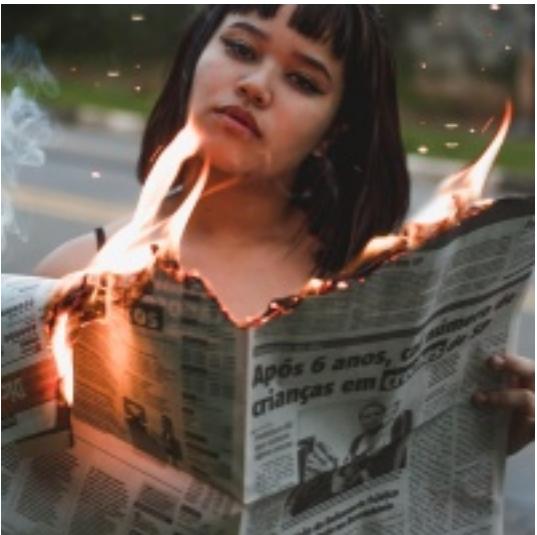

(of a person) not willing to divulge information vitriol

noun

bitter criticism or malice vitriolic

adjective
filled with bitter criticism or malice

Advanced Words 4

asperity

noun

harshness of tone or manner celerity

noun

rapidity of motion or action corollary

noun

a natural consequence or result cosset

verb

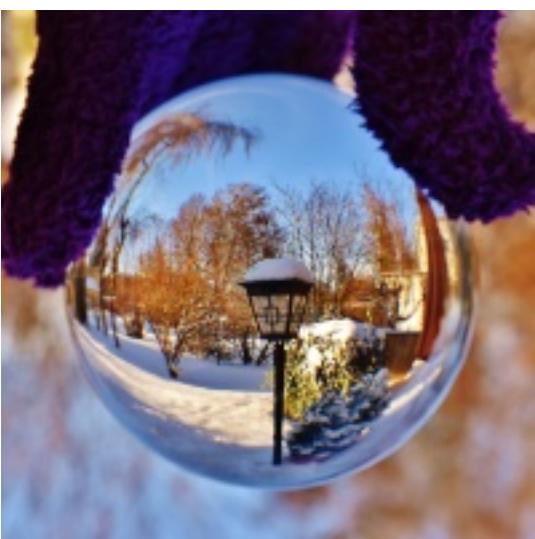

care for and protect in an overindulgent way crestfallen

adjective

sad and disappointed

crystallize

verb

make or become definite and clear decry

verb
to express strong disapproval of denouement

noun
the final resolution of the intricacies of a plot; the outcome of a complex sequence of events
notes:
Connect the dots

dispensation
noun
exemption from a rule or usual requirement dovetail

verb

fit together easily and conveniently encumber

verb

to burden or weigh down equitable

adjective

characterized by fairness; just and right firebrand

noun

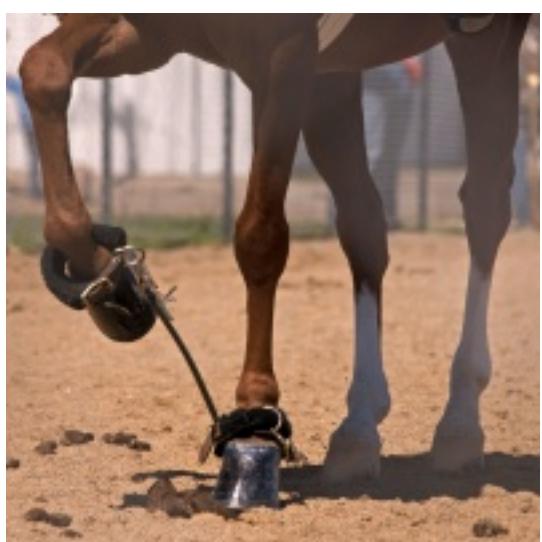

someone who deliberately foments trouble flippant

adjective

not showing a serious or respectful attitude hobble

verb

to cause to limp, hamper the action or progress of hubris

noun

excessive pride or self-confidence

notes:

Johnny Bravo cosplay

immure

verb

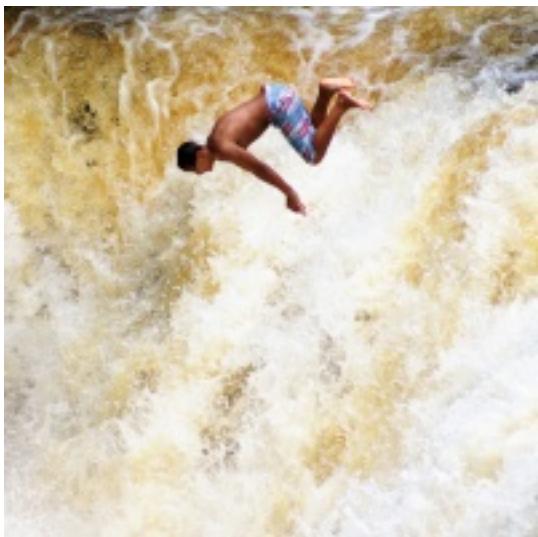

enclose or confine (someone) against their will imperious

adjective

marked by arrogant superiority impetuous

adjective

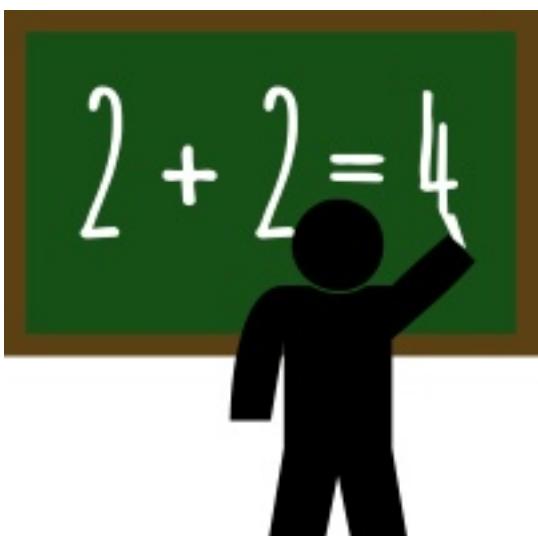

acting or done quickly and without thought or care improvident

adjective

not given careful consideration; not providing for the future incontrovertible

adjective

not able to be denied or disputed inimitable

adjective

so good or unusual as to be impossible to copy intimation

an indication or an indirect suggestion inure

verb

accustom (someone) to something, especially something unpleasant invidious

adjective
likely to arouse or incur resentment; unfairly discriminating inviolate

adjective
free or safe from injury or violation machinate

verb
engage in plots

magisterial

adjective

having or showing great authority nonchalant

adjective

coolly unconcerned or indifferent obstreperous

adjective

noisy and difficult to control ossify

verb

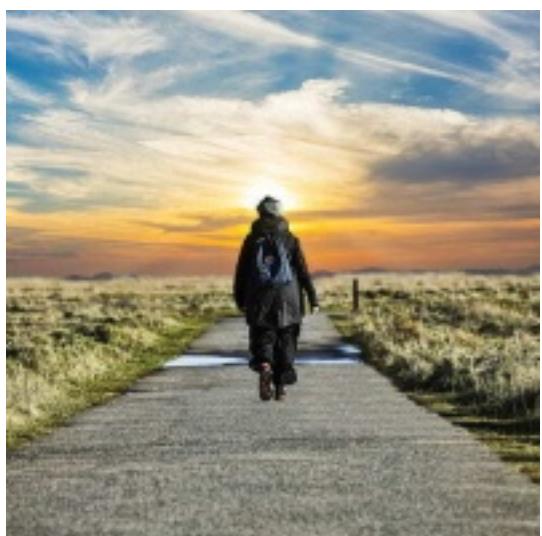

to become rigid or inflexible in habits, attitudes, or opinions patent

adjective

easily recognizable or obvious peripatetic

adjective

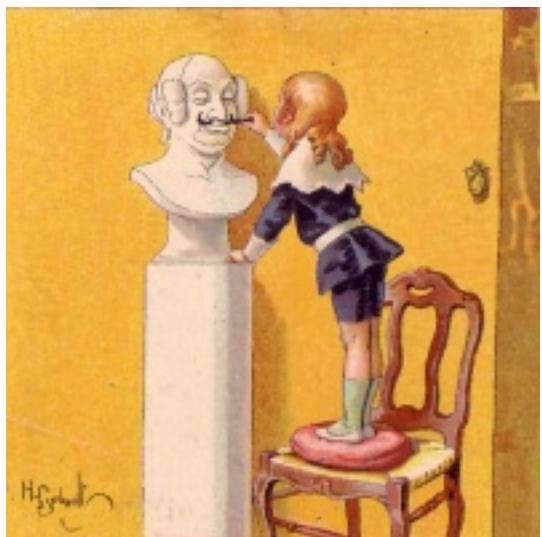

walking or travelling from place to place, in particular working or based in various places for relatively short periods presentiment

noun

a feeling or impression that something is about to happen, especially something evil puerile

adjective

childishly silly and immature puissant

adjective

having great power or influence rarefied

adjective
distant from the lives and concerns of ordinary people recrimination

noun
mutual accusation

ribald
adjective
referring to sexual matters in an amusingly coarse way; humorously vulgar spartan

adjective
characterized by a lack of comfort or luxury stalwart

adjective
loyal, reliable, and hard-working subterfuge

noun
deceit used in order to achieve one's goal surreptitiousadjective* done in a stealthy or secretive way, especially because it would not be approved of tempestuousadjective* characterized by strong and turbulent or conflicting emotion unflappableadjective* having or showing calmness in a crisis untenable

adjective

(especially of a position or view) not able to be defended against attack or objection

notes:

Logo of the Flat Earth Society

Advanced Words 5

anachronism

noun

a thing that is not in its correct chronological time, especially a thing that belongs to an earlier time

antic

adjective

characterized by clownish absurdity apothegm

noun

a short, pithy, and instructive saying appurtenantadjective* furnishing added support by belonging arrogateverb*

take or claim (something) without justification artificenoun*

a clever trick or something intended to deceive

notes:

Double Slate Switch

atavism

noun

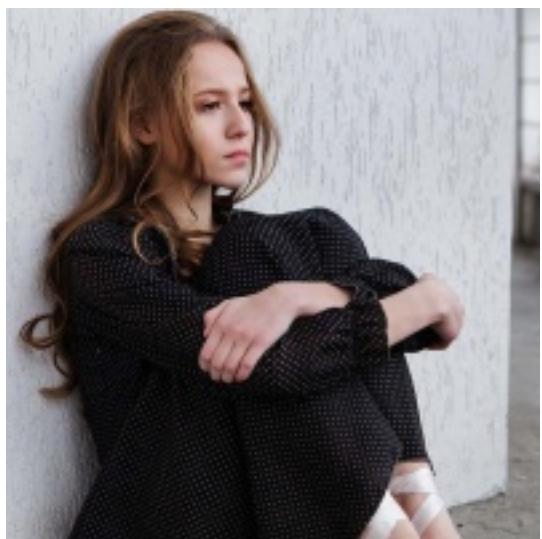

a tendency to revert to something ancient or ancestral baleful

adjective

threatening harm or evil

bemoan

verb

express discontent or sorrow over (something) besotted

adjective
strongly infatuated
adjective
drunk

bristle
verb (of a person) react angrily or defensively broadside

noun
a fierce verbal attack

brookverb*

tolerate or allow something, especially a difference of opinion browbeatverb*

intimidate (someone), typically into doing something, with stern or abusive words chimeranoun*

a thing which is hoped but is illusory or impossible to achieve debonair

adjective

(especially of men) confident, stylish, and charming deign

verb

do something that one considers to be beneath one's dignity effervescent

adjective

marked by high spirits or excitement embryonicadjective*

in a rudimentary stage with potential for development

notes:

A tadpole

empiricismnoun*

the theory that all knowledge is based on experience derived from the senses

notes:

The five senses: sight, sound, smell, taste, and touch.

epigramnoun*

a pithy saying expressing an idea in a clever and amusing way ersatz

adjective

made or used as a substitute, typically an inferior one, for something else

notes:

No calorie sweeteners

exemplar

noun

a person or thing serving as a typical example or appropriate model

notes:

The Monobloc chair is the world's most common plastic chair.

gambit

noun

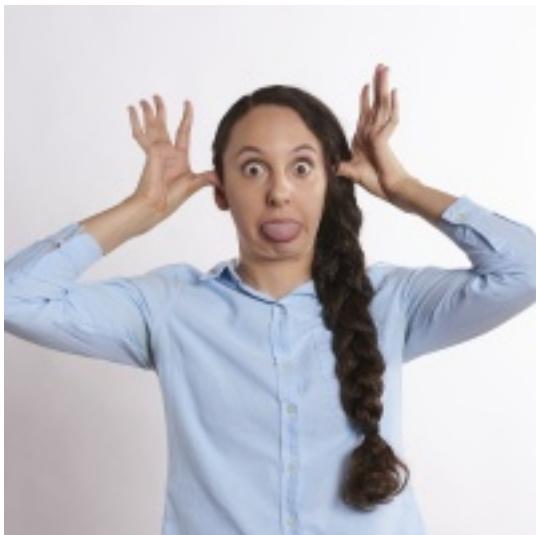

a strategic maneuver that is calculated to gain an advantage, usually involves taking a risk hoaryadjective*

showing characteristics of age, especially having grey or white hair

adjective

overused and unoriginal

inanitynoun*

lack of sense, significance, or ideas inchoateadjective*

just begun and so not fully formed or developed

notes:

A butterfly chrysalis or a pupa

ineffableadjective*

too great or extreme to be expressed or described in words languishverb*

lose or lack vitality; grow weak

meteoricadjective* resembling a meteor in transient brilliance, suddenness of appearance, or swiftness nettlesome

adjective
causing annoyance or difficulty objurgate

verb
express strong disapproval of; rebuke severely paragon

noun
a person or thing regarded as a model of excellence or a perfect example percipient

adjective

having good insight or understanding

notes:

Sherlock Holmes

philistine

adjective

hostile or indifferent to culture and the arts phlegmatic

adjective

(of a person) having an unemotional and calm disposition pith

noun
the essence of something rapprochement

noun
an establishment of cordial relations, especially in international affairs recrudesce

verb
to break out or become active again reprisal

noun

an act of retaliation against an enemy, by the infliction of equal or greater injuries solicitous

adjective

full of anxiety and concern solicitude

noun

a feeling of excessive concern squelch

verb forcefully silence or suppress unprepossessing

adjective
not attractive or appealing to the eye unstinting

adjective
given or giving without restraint untrammeled

adjective

not confined or limited

Advanced Words 6

abjure

verb

solemnly renounce (a belief, cause, or claim), usually under pressure aplomb

noun

self-confidence or assurance, especially when in a demanding situation appropriate

verb

take (something) for one's own use, typically without the owner's permission

verb

devote (money or assets) to a special purpose assiduously

adverb
with great care and persistent effort autocratic

adjective
relating to a ruler who has absolute power
notes:
Charles II of England
adjective
taking no account of other people's wishes or opinions bridle

verb
bring (something) under control
verb
show one's resentment or anger, especially by throwing up one's head and drawing in one's chin bromide

noun

a trite statement that is intended to soothe or placate callow

adjective

(of a young person) inexperienced and immature complaisant

adjective

showing a cheerful willingness to do favors for others complicit

adjective

involved with others in an activity that is unlawful or morally wrong conflate

verb

mix together different elements coterminous

adjective

being the same in extent

notes:

The Petronas Twin Towers in Kuala Lumpur (Malaysia)

desiccated
adjective
lacking vitality or interest desideratum

noun
something that is needed or wanted discursive

adjective
tending to depart from the main point or passing aimlessly from one subject to another dolorous

adjective
feeling or expressing great sorrow or distress doughty

adjective
brave and courageous

elegiac
adjective
expressing sorrow often for something past enormity

noun

a grave crime or sin

notes:

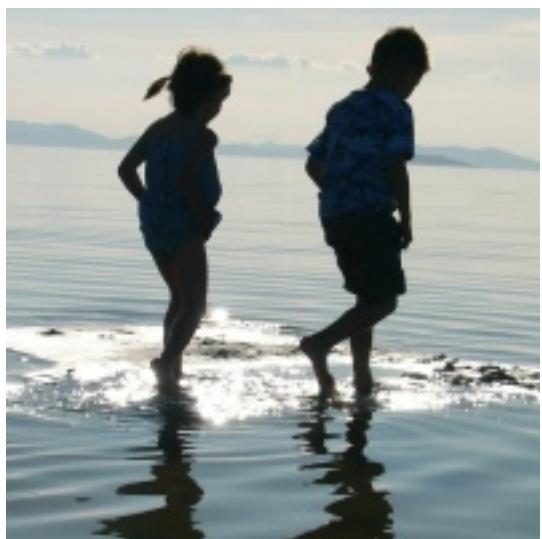

The assassination of president Abraham Lincoln in 1865.

ethereal

adjective

extremely delicate and light in a way that seems not to be of this world facile

adjective

ignoring the true complexities of an issue; lacking depth fecund

adjective
very productive or creative intellectually gumption

noun
sound practical judgement with determination and resourcefulness hauteur

noun
proud haughtiness of manner or spirit imperviousadjective* not admitting of passage or capable of being affected impugnverb*

attack as false or wrong; call into question inequitynoun*

lack of fairness or justice internecineadjective* relating to conflict within a group; mutually destructive inviolableadjective*

never to be broken, infringed, or dishonoured malingererverb*

to pretend illness, especially in order to avoid one's duty or work mendicant

noun

a person who lives by begging noisome

adjective

having an extremely offensive smell obtuse

adjective

annoyingly insensitive or slow to understand

notes:

A donkey

palatable

adjective

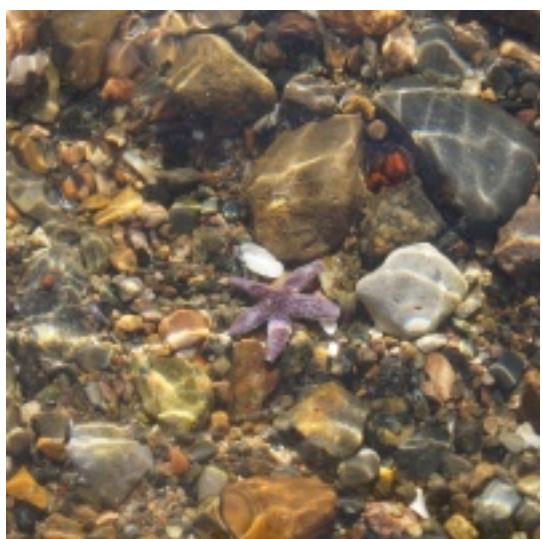

acceptable to the mind, feelings, or taste panegyric

noun

a formal speech or text in praise of someone or something pellucid

adjective

transparently clear; easily understood pontificate

verb

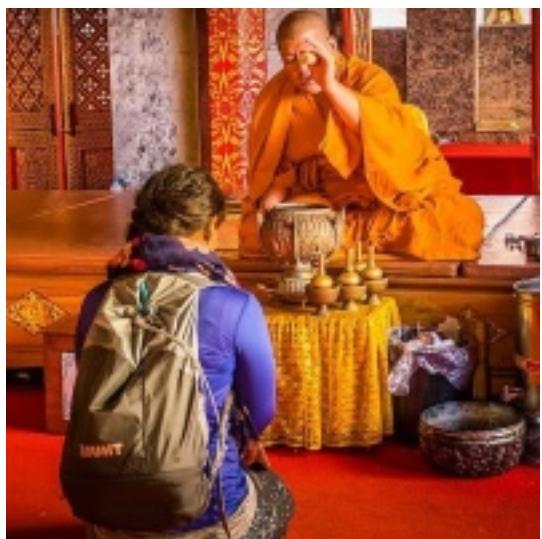

express one's opinions in a pompous and dogmatic way proscribe

verb

forbid, especially by law proselytize

verb

convert (someone) from one religion, belief, or opinion to another self-effacing

adjective

not claiming attention for oneself stultify

verb

cause to lose enthusiasm and initiative, especially as a result of a tedious or restrictive routine transmute

verb

change in form, nature, or substance turgid

adjective

(of language or style) tediously pompous tyro

noun

a beginner in learning

unassailable

adjective

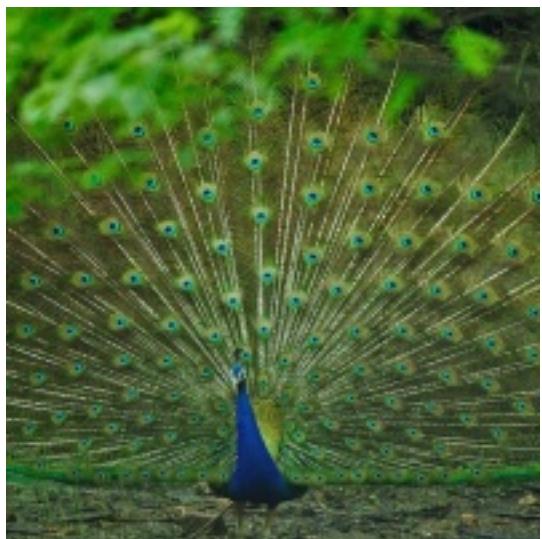

unable to be attacked, questioned, or defeated unimpeachable

adjective

not able to be doubted, questioned, or criticized; entirely trustworthy vaunted

adjective

praised or boasted about, especially in an excessive way

Advanced Words 7

abrogate

verb

to abolish by formal or official means

notes:

Abolish the death penalty adjudicate

verb

make a formal judgement on a disputed matter; act as a judge in a competition bereft

adjective

deprived of or lacking (something), especially through someone's death or departure canard

noun

an unfounded rumour or story capitulate

verb

to surrender often after negotiation of terms

notes:

Mamoru Shigemitsu signs the Instrument of Surrender, officially ending the Second World War

cataclysm

noun

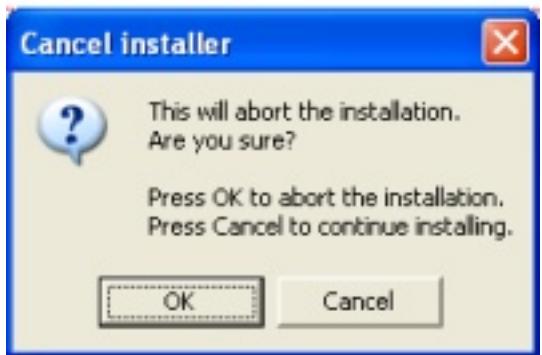

an event resulting in great loss and misfortune concomitant

adjective

existing or occurring with something else countermand

verb

revoke or cancel (an order) despot

noun

a ruler or other person who holds absolute power, typically one who exercises it in a cruel or oppressive way

notes:

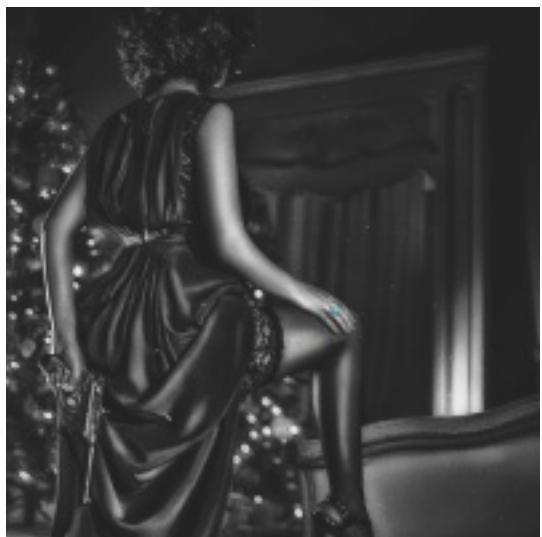

Kim Jong-un, Supreme Leader of North Korea

diminutiveadjective* extremely or unusually small

noun

a shortened form of a name, typically used informally; to indicate smallness dissembleverb*

conceal or disguise one's true feelings or beliefs dissipateverb*

to spend or use wastefully or extravagantly

verb

to scatter in various directions dissolution

noun

debauched living; overindulging in sensual pleasures ebullient

adjective

cheerful and full of energy enamor

verb

be filled with love for

eponym

noun

a person after whom a discovery, invention, or place is named

notes:

Anders Celsius, a Swedish Astronomer who invented the Celsius temperature scale.

estimable

adjective

worthy of great respect evanescent

adjective

tending to vanish like vapor exiguitynoun*

the quality of being meager; very small in size or amount exorbitantadjective* greatly exceeding bounds of reason or moderation, especially in amount or extent

GPR v.s. Kernel Ridge v.s. SVR

```
kernel=rbf, C=1, gamma=1) C=0.01, kernel=rbf, length_squared=1.67, periodicity=32.91)) ExpSineSquared(length_scale=1.71, periodicity=6.26) + WhiteKernel(noise_level=0.54))
```

extrapolateverb*

to infer (an unknown) from something that is known; draw from specific cases for more general cases flag

verb

become tired or less enthusiastic graft

noun

bribery and other corrupt practices used to secure illicit advantages halcyon

adjective

denoting a period of time in the past that was idyllically happy and peaceful

notes:

<https://www.needpix.com/photo/1146374/peaceful-happy-sea-sunshine-harmony-wellness-water-beach-ocean>

hoodwink
verb
deceive or trick

ineluctable
adjective
unable to be resisted or avoided
notes:
Death is inevitable

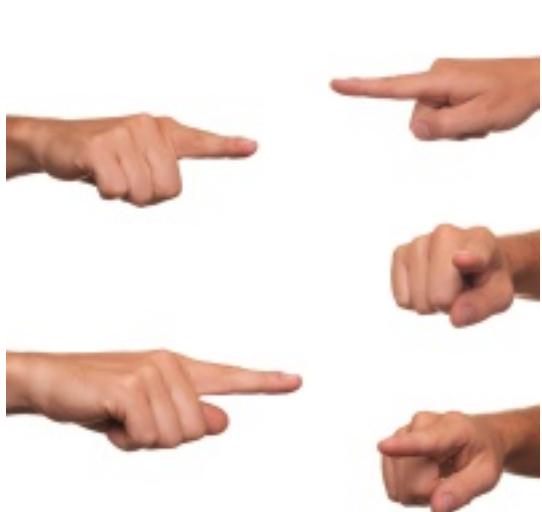

infelicitous
adjective
not appropriate or well-timed lachrymose

adjective
tearful or given to weeping loathe

adjective
unwilling to do something contrary to one's ways of thinking

misattribute
verb
to incorrectly indicate the cause, origin, or creator of (something); wrongly attribute modicumnoun*

a small quantity of a particular thing, especially something desirable or valuable

notes:

A diamond ring

obliqueadjective*

not expressed or done in a direct way obtainverb*

be prevalent, customary, or established

notes:

Jar for tips at a restaurant officious

adjective

aggressive in offering one's unrequested services, especially with regard to trivial matters palaver

verb

talk unproductively and at length panacea

noun

a solution or remedy for all difficulties or diseases pillory

verb
attack or ridicule publicly promulgate

verb
promote or make widely known (an idea or cause) raillery

noun
good-humoured teasing

row
noun
a noisy dispute or quarrel sardonic

adjective
grimly mocking or cynical; disdainfully or ironically humorous

simulacrum
noun
an image or representation of someone or something, especially in the form of sculpture
noun
an unsatisfactory imitation

splenetic
adjective
bad-tempered; very irritable surfeit

noun
an excessive amount of something trenchant

adjective
vigorous or incisive in expression or style verisimilitude

noun

the appearance of being true or real

notes:

Hyper realistic drawing of bottle veritable

adjective

being in fact the thing named and not false; often used to qualify a metaphor